

Scarborough Farms

Oxnard
California
est. 1980

Scarborough Farms is a family farm started in a backyard in Woodland Hills in the 1980's.

We originally started growing for restaurant chefs.

As the acreage we farm increased, our core growing practices and principles have remained intact.

Flavor, freshness, and quality are never compromised.

We plant our lettuces, greens, and microgreens every week,
and we harvest every day.

We have a Food Safety program that is very robust that meets and/or exceeds the standards of all the professional chefs, kitchens, and restaurants we serve.

The herbs we grow are picked every day.

Heirloom tomatoes are also harvested daily, and only grown in season.

Scarborough Farms success and longevity has been built upon maintaining relationships and listening, to those we serve and the soil we grow in.

Thank you, for sharing in our love for plants we grow.
