

CTV Morning Live in Vancouver Features Philippine Cuisine and “Manila Comes to Town” Food Truck Event

30 August 2019 – (Left photo) Ambassador Petronila P. Garcia (right) and Mr. Jason Pires (center), co-anchor of CTV Morning Live, talk about Philippine cuisine and “Manila Comes to Town” food truck event as Max’s Restaurant’s kitchen team leader Elsie Santiago (left) demonstrates the making of lumpiang shanghai (Filipino spring roll). The food truck event is being organized by the Philippine Consulate General in Vancouver as part of its continuing efforts to introduce and promote Philippine cuisine in Vancouver by bringing to downtown, for the first time, the food trucks of Max’s Restaurant and Shameless Buns, as well as La Glace ice cream.

(Right photo) On display are Max’s fried chicken, pancit palabok, pork barbeque and lumpiang shanghai, Shameless Buns’ adobo and sinigang fries and pandesal French toast, and La Glace’s vegan coco pandan ice cream.

(L-R) Deputy Consul General Arlene T. Magno, CTV Anchor Marke Driesschen, Consul General Maria Andrelita S. Austria, Ambassador Petronila P. Garcia, Max’s Managing Director Cecil Pratt and Kitchen Team Leader Elsie Santiago, CTV Anchors Keri Adams and Jason Pires, owners of Shameless Buns, Matt Brennan and Corvette Romero, and La Glace Founder & Culinary Director Mark Tagulao.