

Chuck Dukas

OCS 2023

Master of Ceremonies and Host

Originally from Dedham, Massachusetts; Chuck has called Los Angeles home for more than seventeen years. He began his career working in production and hyping up hopeful contestants on CBS' The Price is Right with Bob Barker. His infectious personality and energy have enabled Chuck to become one of the top network television audience warm-up hosts in the country. He's opened for such shows as Dancing with the Stars, American Idol, The Masked Singer, and The Voice. He's kept sitcom audiences entertained for shows like Netflix's Fuller House, Disney's Just Roll with it and several Nickelodeon projects and for more than eight years, Chuck has been the warmup host and spot announcer on NBC's Americas Got Talent. Along with getting crowds hyped up, Chuck has made countless appearances on daytime television playing a Forrester employee on CBS' The Bold and The Beautiful, Stanley Bishop on The Young and the Restless, a hospital orderly on NBC's Days of our Lives and co-starred on Nickelodeon's The Thundermans. He served as host of a reality cooking show "Battle of the Chefs" on the Chef Life Network and has been an on-air correspondent for Lucasfilm for the two most recent Star Wars Celebrations. Along with a very busy television schedule, Chuck can be found working with hundreds of nonprofits and organizations across the country as an MC and a benefit charity auctioneer, using energy and skill to bark out bids and raise millions of dollars yearly for organizations like Dunkin Donuts' Joy Foundation, Stand Up to Cancer, American Cancer Society, and countless philanthropic causes.
