

BUILD Magazine Announces The Construction & Engineering Awards 2018 Winners.

United Kingdom, 2018- BUILD Magazine has announced winners of the Construction & Engineering Awards 2018.

Incorporating all variation of enterprises across the construction and engineering disciplines, who thrive in this dynamic sector, our awards program engages in the process of honouring those whose work may span civil, commercial, energy, residential, industrial and infrastructure projects! Our pledge is to award the companies from this sector who form the backbone of the industry, working day-in-day-out to build a better future for all.

Discussing the success of these deserving winners, Laura Hunter, Awards Coordinator was eager to praise their hard work and commitment: “As the sector is bouncing back, following a tough year, the industry is back again to do what it does best, design and build the best world around us. With sustainable solutions, greater HSE standards and regulations including ever challenging environmental considerations. The markets involved in these endeavours, and more, continue to experience growth, and it is these dedicated firms and individuals that we showcase through this prestigious awards programme. Congratulations to all of our winners, I wish you all the best for the future.”
