

MYERS' COCKTAIL DRIP

This happy hour vitamin drip cocktail is a powerful intravenous nutrient therapy that delivers a blend of vitamins, minerals, and antioxidants directly into the bloodstream. This unique combination of nutrients can provide a range of benefits, including combating everyday stress, increasing energy levels, improving immune function, and enhancing overall wellness. Ideal for chronic conditions such as malabsorption, fatigue, fibromyalgia, and chronic stress. With its fast-acting and effective delivery system, the IV Myers cocktail is a popular choice for those looking to optimize their health and wellbeing.

MYERS' COCKTAIL DRIP & GLUTATHIONE PUSH

The IV Myers cocktail with glutathione IV push is an excellent therapy that provides a range of benefits. Glutathione is a powerful antioxidant that helps to protect cells from damage caused by free radicals, toxins, and other harmful substances. When combined with the IV Myers cocktail, it can enhance the immune system, detoxify the body, and boost energy levels. This potent blend of nutrients can also help to reduce inflammation, improve skin health, and enhance mental clarity. With its fast-acting and effective delivery system, the IV Myers cocktail with glutathione IV push is a popular choice for individuals looking for anti-aging benefits.

HYDROGEN PEROXIDE DRIP

IV hydrogen peroxide therapy is a powerful tool for improving overall health and wellness. Hydrogen peroxide is a natural substance that can help to boost the immune system, increase oxygen levels in the body, and improve circulation. When administered intravenously, hydrogen peroxide can help to fight infections, reduce inflammation, and even improve the symptoms of chronic conditions. If you're looking for a safe, effective way to boost your health, IV hydrogen peroxide therapy may be just what you need.

HANGOVER DRIP

Are you tired of suffering from hangovers after a night out? Look no further than our hangover relief IV drip! Our specially formulated drip includes anti-nausea and pain medications to help alleviate the symptoms of even the worst hangovers. With a combination of vitamins, minerals, and fluids, our drip helps to rehydrate your body, restore essential nutrients, and improve overall wellness. Plus, the addition of anti-nausea and pain medications means you'll be feeling relief in no time – try our hangover relief IV drip today!

PROTEIN-AMINO DRIP

IV amino acids drips support the body's natural detoxification processes, reduce inflammation and pain, support mental health and cognitive function, and improve athletic performance. Amino acids are the building blocks of protein, and they play important roles in many physiological processes in the body. By delivering them directly into the bloodstream through an IV, we can bypass the digestive system and ensure that they are absorbed quickly and effectively. blood flow and support cardiovascular health, and taurine, which can help to reduce inflammation and support healthy liver function. Say goodbye to sluggishness and fatigue – try our IV amino acid drip today!

VITAMIN C (LOW DOSE) DRIP

Top Immune Booster, IV vitamin C Drip. When administered intravenously, vitamin C can reach much higher concentrations in the bloodstream than when taken orally, allowing for greater therapeutic benefit. IV vitamin C therapy has been shown to support the immune system, reduce inflammation, and promote tissue repair and healing. It is also a powerful antioxidant, helping to protect the body against the damaging effects of free radicals. This therapy is particularly effective for individuals with chronic illnesses or compromised immune systems, as it can help to strengthen the body's natural defenses and promote healing.

VITAMIN C (HIGH DOSE) DRIP

High-dose vitamin C therapy has been used for decades in naturopathic medicine to support optimal health and improved quality of life. When administered intravenously high dose vitamin C can help to boost the immune system, reduce inflammation, and support cellular regeneration. Additionally, high-dose vitamin C therapy has been shown to have anti-cancer properties, making it a potentially valuable adjunct therapy for cancer patients. Overall, if you're looking for a safe, effective way to support your health and promote healing, high-dose vitamin C therapy may be for you.

GLUTATHIONE IV PUSH

IV glutathione is gaining popularity in antiaging medicine due to its powerful antioxidant properties. Glutathione is a naturally occurring compound in the body that helps to protect cells from damage caused by free radicals, toxins, and other harmful substances. As we age, the levels of glutathione in our bodies naturally decrease, which can contribute to the aging process. By administering glutathione intravenously, it can help to neutralize free radicals and prevent oxidative stress, which can help to slow down the aging process and improve overall health. Additionally, IV glutathione has been shown to improve skin health by reducing inflammation and promoting collagen production, leading to a more youthful and radiant appearance. With its many benefits, IV glutathione is becoming a popular choice for individuals seeking to improve their overall health and combat the effects of aging.

SHREDDER DRIP

This drip contains L-carnitine, taurine, and B vitamins. L-carnitine is an amino acid that plays a crucial role in energy metabolism and can help to increase energy levels and promote weight loss. This drip is ideal for individuals with an increased BMI, metabolic syndrome, or prediabetes- try our shred IV drip today!

ZEN AURA DRIP

This therapeutic IV drip designed to treat anxiety, muscle cramps, PMS and migraine headaches- relax and try our Zen IV drip today!