2016 Bible-Reading Schedule

What do the books of Job, Psalms, Proverbs, Ecclesiastes, and Song of Solomon have in common? Together they make up God's wisdom literature. This 5-day reading schedule will guide us through the books of wisdom, as it helps us come to know God and teaches us the best way to live "under the sun."

Before we begin, here are a few words about how the readings are arranged. We will start by reading Proverbs 1-9. This will enable us to hear wisdom's call and build a desire to acquire wisdom. Then the readings will settle into a regular schedule. On Mondays, we will always read one stanza from Psalm 119, the great psalm praising God's Word. Thus, we are beginning each week with a reminder of how great the Scriptures are and what they do for us. Then we will read an additional psalm. On Tuesdays, we will read a chapter in Proverbs. On Wednesdays, we will return to the Psalms to read a lament psalm. The lament psalms teach us that while life can be difficult, we can embrace that truth by learning to call on God when we are hurting. Thursdays will find us reading in Job. On Fridays, we will read in the Psalms again. In mid-summer, we will break from this regular schedule to read Ecclesiastes and Song of Solomon. These books need to be read on consecutive days to make sense, so we'll do just that.

With this plan we will read all of the wisdom books in 2016, with a bonus reading through most of Proverbs twice, and all of Psalm 119 twice. We will then conclude the year with the New Testament's book of wisdom, James. May the Lord bless us as we pursue wisdom through the reading of His word!

"For the LORD gives wisdom; from His mouth come knowledge and understanding." (Proverbs 2:6)
