

TODAY'S HYBRID CRIME ANALYST

What Works-What Doesn't-What Will

Presented by:

Retired LASD Crime Analyst Supervisor Annie Mitchell and LASD Crime Analyst Romy Haas

Today's crime analyst is expected to become an expert in a number of analytical tasks ranging from: tactical, strategic, administrative, intelligence, investigative, quality of life issues, social media, cell phone analysis, in progress calls for service and much more. Technology and innovation has made our profession the flavor of the month.

This presentation will focus on the following:

- Building a solid analytical foundation
- Moving away from the "shotgun" approach to training
 - Defining your role as an Analyst
 - Time Management & Prioritization
 - Effective and Actionable products
- High vs. Low priority products and services
 - Data as your weapon
 - Analytical case studies
- Embracing your "Hybrid" role and...

...the basics in prepping and testifying in court. How a prelim is different from a trial, what you can expect from direct and cross examinations, working with Deputy District Attorneys and Detectives, dealing with defense expert witnesses, and much more. Although most of this topic will be relevant for any kind of testimony, cell phone analysis testimony will be emphasized.
