“Life can give us intense, beautifully messy challenges.”

Debbie is a Licensed Professional Counselor who is Owner and Clinical Director of a well established private practice in Alpharetta, Georgia. She has advanced certifications in treating OCD/Anxiety and parenting the challenging child. She and her team of multi-disciplined specialists have the credentials and experience to treat a broad spectrum of mental health disorders utilizing the current evidenced based treatments. The practice is especially well recognized for our effective treatment of the complex issues confronted by children, adolescents and their families. Our “Teen Queen” therapist leads our popular groups for teenage girls.

What is unique to this practice is that each therapist is committed to finding and utilizing innovative therapies tailored to each client’s personality to help them best engage in their treatment. Wallace, our therapy dog often participates in sessions to help break down inhibitions and open receptivity & communication.

Additional services include: educational testing, social skills and teen groups and effective therapies for treating PTSD & trauma.
