

Welcome to Maple Leaf Diner! Wére bringing a little Canadian flavour to Texas, Eh!

Maple Leaf Diner History

Maple Leaf Diner is owned by Michael Delaurier, an experienced restaurateur from Windsor, Ontario Canada. The Delaurier Family dove into the restaurant business in 1967 when Betty and Norman Delaurier opened Betty & Norm's Pizza & Chicken Palace in Belle River, Ontario. Flash-forward over 50 years and threegenerations of the Delaurier Family are restauranteurs (one even currently owns a Tim Horton's in Canada)! Maple Leaf Diner opened in September of 2015 after owner Michael Delaurier, an experienced restauranteur native to Windsor, Ontario, Canada couldn't find food in his wife's hometown of Dallas that felt like home. "There's nobody more Canadian than a Canadian who no longer lives in Canada," Mike Myers once said and Mike couldn't agree more! Mike opened Maple Leaf Diner in September of 2015 and for the past four years has brought a little slice of Canada to Dallas! Maple Leaf Diner serves up traditional homemade diner delights like pot roast, burgers and made-from-scratch pies as well as homemade Canadian recipes such as: Poutine (fresh cut French fries topped with cheese curds and smothered in homemade gravy), PeaMeal Bacon (the REAL Canadian Bacon), Nanaimo Bars, and Butter Tarts. Everything is made fresh in our scratch kitchen daily including our rolls, buns, toast, pies, and jam!

Mike's Favourite Canadian Dishes served at Maple Leaf Diner:

Bloody Caesar – ok so this one is not a dish, but it's the best drink in town! It was also recently featured on Trey's Chow Down Live! The Caesar is Canada's national cocktail. Made of Canadian vodka, clamato juice, hot sauce and Worcestershire sauce, the Canadian take on the Bloody Mary makes the absolute best brunch companion. Served with more than just the traditional celery salt rim and celery stalk but a center cut bacon skewer to top things off!

Poutine - Few Canadian dishes are as world-renowned as the glorious creation known as poutine. Crispy fries, cheese curds and rich house made gravy all combine to create the dish of dreams. The classic version is great on its own, but our Pot Roast Poutine, Chicken Fried Steak Poutines with added toppings really knock it out of the park.

Peameal Bacon - This special Canadian twist on bacon is made from lean boneless pork loin, which is trimmed, wet-cured and then rolled in cornmeal, giving it its distinctive yellow crust. It's juicier and more like ham than American-style bacon, but also leaner and, some might say, more delicious. Try it on the Canadian Benedict!

Butter Tart- This pastry tart is highly regarded in Canadian cuisine, Butter tarts are a sugar pie constructed of basic ingredients — pie crust with a sweet filling made of butter, sugar, syrup and egg — but there's nothing basic about the taste. The sickeningly delightful center melts in your mouth!

Nanaimo Bar - Named after the British Columbian city of Nanaimo, these layered slices of heaven are comprised of a crumb base layer, custard and topped with milk chocolate.
