Letter from our CEO

Dear Members,

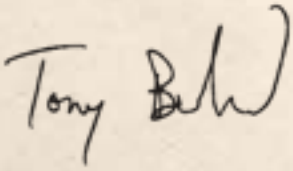
At Frontier Co-op, we believe that doing good, works. From the way we approach our relationships with our sourcing partners to contributing approximately $1M each year in social giving across the U.S. and around the world, that mindset is absolutely apparent in everything we do. Nowhere, however, is it reflected more clearly than in the way we approach our relationships with, and the fulfillment of our responsibilities to, our nearly 600 employees. By investing in our employees through programs like second chance hiring, affordable transportation and onsite childcare, we are ensuring the long-term success of our co-op. Throughout this catalog, you'll read more about how "doing good" by our employees absolutely works for our member-owners.

As an employer in rural Iowa, we recognize that there are many individuals in our region who want and need jobs but are facing certain barriers to employment. So, our co-op has taken a number of steps to help break down those barriers, and help these individuals find gainful employment in a place where they are appreciated and provided opportunities for their own personal and professional growth and development.

By partnering with local agencies and non-profit organizations dedicated to helping women, refugees, immigrants, and individuals facing homelessness to get on their feet and find safety and security in our community, we've been able to set ourselves apart in our region as an employer. In the process, we have not only gained a diversity of perspectives within our company, but loyal and dedicated employees who work hard every day to push our company to be better. We have learned a lot through the establishment of these programs and are excited to share them with you, our member-owners.

Thank you for your continued patronage. Through your support, we are able to continue doing good in our world and having a positive impact on all the lives we touch, from organic cinnamon growers in Sri Lanka to our manufacturing line in Norway, Iowa. The more Frontier Co-op grows, the more good we can do together.

Sincerely,



Tony Bedard, CEO

DOING GOOD, WORKS

Frontier Co-op believes that doing good, works. That mindset is absolutely apparent in the way we treat our employees. Each and every member of our team is critical to our ability to do good in our communities both domestically and around the world, so it's important that we support them however we can. As an Iowa-based cooperative, Frontier Co-op recognized that there are many barriers individuals face in finding or maintaining employment. Over the past several years, the co-op has taken a number of steps to help break down those barriers for our employees, from subsidized childcare to second chance hiring practices and transportation assistance.

Learn more about a few of these programs and how 'doing good' by our employees works for everyone.

CHILDCARE

Accessible and affordable childcare is one factor many employees, especially women, list as the reason they are unable to return to the workforce. Unfortunately, Iowa, like many other states, is lacking when it comes to childcare facilities, especially in rural areas. Even if employees are able to find a childcare center for their children, often times the services are too costly to justify the decision to go back to work. Since our founding, Frontier Co-op has maintained subsidized childcare on-site in our Norway facility and as we grew, added a benefit to reimburse parents at other facilities for a portion of their childcare expenses through other providers.

Simply Organic Brand Manager Katie Shatzer appreciates that Frontier Co-op has invested in the physical space and the staff to allow parents to have their children on-site but also recognized that childcare is a deeply personal choice and still allows parents who can't use our on-site option a benefit.

"Childcare is one of the biggest choices you make as parent, so having an employer that supports that decision has been really important for me and my family," said Shatzer.

Even throughout the COVID-19 pandemic, we have remained committed to maintaining this support program for our employees with heightened restrictions to access, and increased sanitation protocols to help ensure employees are able to continue to feel secure in coming to work. Today, between the reimbursement and onsite childcare program, Frontier helps care for 130 children, serving 73 employees, or more than 12% of our workforce.

APPRENTICESHIP

As a long-time partner of both the Catherine McAuley Center (CMC) and Willis Dady Homeless Services in Cedar Rapids, Frontier Co-op was well aware that there were a number of individuals in the community who were anxious to get to work to support their families, but they needed a little bit of extra assistance and training. So, Frontier partnered with these organizations to establish an apprenticeship program. The program provides job opportunities, training, and stable income for women in need, immigrants, refugees, and people facing homelessness. To date, 143 individuals have benefited from this apprenticeship program, and we have hired 20 percent of our production employees from this program since 2018.

SECOND CHANCES

It's estimated that one in three adults in the U.S. have a criminal background. Frontier Co-op recognized how important it was to adopt fair chance hiring policies in order to ensure skilled, prospective candidates are not disqualified from consideration. To solve this problem, we have partnered with Iowa's Sixth Judicial District Department of Correctional Services and One City United to ensure that our internal policies are reflective of this fair chance standard and to identify individuals returning to society who are anxious for a second chance, ultimately bringing them in to our apprenticeship program. Since 2018, Frontier Co-op has hired 15 percent of our production employees through these second chance practices.

TRANSPORTATION

Reliable transportation is a significant barrier to employment for many individuals in the Iowa City/Cedar Rapids Corridor, as public transit to the rural areas where our facilities are located is seriously lacking. In order to continue to support our employees, especially individuals participating in our apprenticeship program and second chance hiring program, Frontier knew we needed to help address this issue. So, we turned to our local partner – Willis Dady – to establish a transportation system that helps bus employees from multiple locations in Cedar Rapids out to our Norway, Iowa headquarters three times each day – once for each shift at the plant. More than 30 employees utilize this busing program each day.

For Vice President of Human Resources Megan Schulte, this project exemplifies the kind of unique partnerships we like to offer employees.

"Transportation is often overlooked as a barrier for many people maintaining employment," said Schulte. "Without a vehicle, it's hard to get to work on time or even get to work at all. Our transportation partnership was a truly out of the box way that we could break down that barrier and allow more people the opportunity to join our team."

Helping GROWERS succeed with ORGANICS

Black pepper (piper nigrum) is not native to Vietnam, but economic reforms in the 1990's opened the door to production and export. Today, Vietnam is the world's top black pepper exporter. The crop has been a boon to many poor Vietnamese farmers. However, unsustainable cultivation and pesticide overuse challenge the industry. For the past 10 years, Frontier has partnered with Pacific Basin Partnership to source organic and "clean" black pepper, as well as other spices.

Through our Well Earth® sourcing program, we've supported Pacific Basin's work with a remote rural school and also helped support its foray into organic black pepper. As one of the first suppliers to join Frontier's updated Well Earth program, we're partnering with Pacific Basin and the non profit Sustainable Food Group to transition 150 additional growers to organic or low impact production. For 3 years, farmers will receive training and support to improve soil nutrient management, optimize food safety, and adopt organic or integrated pest management (IPM) practices. This means safer production for farming families, reduced environmental impact, and an opportunity for small scale farmers to increase their incomes with organic and "clean" pepper price premiums.

Top: Members of Frontier Co-op's sourcing team with farmers from the Pacific Basin Partnership in Vietnam.

GROWING HOPE
in Afghanistan

Rumi Spice was founded by a team of military veterans who served in Afghanistan. Their aim: contribute to Afghanistan's stabilization efforts by increasing farmer incomes, creating jobs (especially for women), and providing an alternative to selling poppy used for illicit drug production. Saffron (Crocus sativus) is one of the most expensive spices in the world. It grows exceptionally well in the high, arid climate of the Pashtun, Zargol, and Ghuryan districts in the Herat Province of Afghanistan. When we saw the first sample of Rumi Spice's saffron, we were struck by its deep red color and fragrant floral aroma. The product and mission were a perfect match for us. As we moved to convert our Frontier Co-op-branded saffron to Rumi Spice's product, we wanted to make sure that we helped Rumi Spice scale up its business in a way in which quality remains top notch. We provided Rumi Spice with grants for infrastructure and training that ensure the highest quality production possible, with saffron traceable back to each and every farm. We also shared our 40 years of quality and food safety expertise. Through our partnership, we've helped Rumi Spice produce some of the world's very best saffron in a way that exemplifies the positive impact that our sourcing program can create.

ENRICHING SOIL
in Tunisia

Soil health is one the pillars of regenerative agriculture. Herbs like parsley (Petroselinum crispum) and dill weed (Anethum graveolens) show their love for healthy soil with bright, green color and delicate flavor and aroma. But just like people, farm soil needs nutrients to stay healthy. Left unattended, farm soil can become depleted, effecting crop quality and yield after just a few seasons. Our Well Earth partner Herbiotech Aroma is committed to the tenets of organic agriculture, including maintaining healthy soil. But in Tunisia, finding compost that is compatible with organic certification can be a challenge. To ensure that Herbiotech's farmland stays healthy and productive, Frontier is supporting organic compost production right on Herbiotech's farm. The project includes both the equipment and training that Herbiotech needs to begin producing and spreading compost on its land. Within 2-3 years, Herbiotech will be able to produce enough organic compost to apply on all of its acreage as part of an ongoing cycle. Soil testing will track the soil's enrichment and help Herbiotech's agricultural technicians fine tune the exact organic ingredients that go into the compost. The expected result: beautiful, high-quality herbs that keep both Mother Nature and our customers happy.

BULK Gourmet SALTS

Alder Smoked Salt

Coarse Grind #4418

Alder Smoked Salt gets its authentic flavor from being slowly smoked over true alderwood — the traditional smoking wood of the Northwest — not from artificial flavorings or oils. This all-natural smoking process adds a sweet, true smokehouse flavor. Alder smoked salt pairs well with any grilled foods, especially salmon, asparagus, pork, ribs and burgers.

Himalayan Pink Salt

Fine Grind #4417
Medium Grind #4407

Himalayan Pink Salt is pure, hand-mined salt found deep inside the pristine Himalayan Mountains. The high mineral content of Himalayan salt crystals contributes to their color, ranging from deep reds to beautiful pinks. Try adorning tender white meats such as lean pork, chicken or turkey with the mineral-rich flavor of this gorgeous salt.

Sea Salt

Coarse Grind 5 lb. #333
Fine Grind 5 lb. #193

Frontier Co-op Sea Salt is sourced directly from the Mediterranean coast of France. This premium salt contains naturally occurring trace minerals. Typical refined table salt has these minerals removed and chemicals added.

Sea Salt, Grey

Fine Grind #4409

Our Grey Sea Salt, or Sel Gris, is an all-natural sea salt, unrefined and unprocessed, sourced from clean coastal waters along the Guérande Region of Brittany, France. This robust, briny and mineral-rich sea salt is harvested by traditional Celtic methods using a paludier, a craftsman salt harvester. This is a lovely, aromatic salt to flavor water for boiling pasta, or to adorn grilled shellfish, bivalves and fish.

Fleur de Sel

#4412

Long considered the caviar of salts, Fleur de Sel (flower of salt) has slightly moist crystals that look like tiny snowflakes. This rare salt is hand harvested from pristine salt marshes in Brittany, France, and tastes of the sea. Fleur de Sel has a floral aroma and briny, complex minerality. Pair it with delicate shellfish of any kind. It is also the perfect salt for a mixed-from-scratch vinaigrette dressing on tender, fresh greens.

Kosher Flakes

#4419

Sprinkle a pinch of Kosher Flaked Sea Salt to perfectly finish a dish. Many recipes and chefs call specifically for kosher salt due to the unique shape of its flat crystals and the more rounded, less harshly alkaline flavor it has over ordinary table salt. The increased surface area of these kosher flakes helps the salt adhere beautifully to foods such as pretzels, breads and salted caramels. Unlike some brands of kosher salt, ours is actually made from real ocean water.

Applewood Smoked Salt

#4408

Applewood Smoked Salt is a flaky sea salt that is naturally smoked over true Eastern Washington Applewood at low temperatures. Aged applewood is one of the most popular fruit woods used in smoking foods because it yields a dense, fruity-sweet flavor, unlike most other woods. Season barbecued meats, marinades, brines and chutneys with this richly flavored salt.

Better EQUIPMENT for a better BAY LEAF

We donated $57,000 for bay leaf dryers to support our supplier: a 250-member collector cooperative in the village of Kurşunlu, Turkey. Now processing jobs can remain in the community. These new driers use indirect heat, preventing smoke contamination which lowers the respiratory risk for workers and provides a higher quality bay leaf. They're also powered by chipped laurel branches, a byproduct of the leaf harvesting.

To help support the co-op's future, we've also provided scholarships to several local young women to study forestry engineering. Our hope is for them to return home and oversee the co-op's collection and forestry management practices.

WORKING TOGETHER to improve QUALITY OF LIFE

The farmers who grow our cardamom and allspice in Guatemala are mostly indigenous Mayan (Q'eqchi') people who don't have easy access to medical and dental facilities. To help their community, our Well Earth® program provided funding for a dental clinic operated by FEDECOVERA, a co-op that's the world's largest cardamom supplier. FEDECOVERA cares greatly about their member communities. The co-op organizes health clinics, business support services and several other programs to help their farmers. Our support of the dental clinic, along with fair pricing and all the other aspects of our Well Earth program, not only benefits the hardworking farmers, but also helps maintain the high quality of our products.

Promoting CLIMATE RESILIENCE with our sourcing PARTNERS

Small organic farmers in Kerala, India have suffered the effects of climate change with a few catastrophic years of flooding, landslides and droughts. To help these farmers recover from devastating losses and plan for a more resilient future, we worked with our supplier in the region, Peermade Development Society Organic Spices (PDS), to provide training and support.

Together with PDS, we supported an organic agricultural training program focused on rebuilding farms and the entrepreneurial spirit of the farmers. The program will bring in experts to help farmers rebuild the soil and biodiversity lost on their farms. By promoting local varieties of drought and/or flood resistant organic pepper, turmeric and ginger, the program will make farms and farming families more resilient in extreme weather. Educating farmers on sustainable solutions will help them adapt to a changing world and continue to grow high-quality organic spices for generations to come.

What's the difference?

BETWEEN EXTRACTS AND FLAVORS

EXTRACTS: An extract is a concentrated solution of the complex and flavorful oils, resins and compounds of the herb, spice, fruit or nut that have been extracted. Because they are more concentrated, a recipe may call for smaller amounts of an extract than it would for a flavor.

FLAVORS: A flavor is a less concentrated dilution of an extract in a base liquid such as alcohol, vegetable glycerin, water, vegetable oil or a combination thereof. Because of this dilution, a recipe will usually call for a larger, easier-to-measure amount of flavoring vs. an extract.

Betsy Miller

"Getting essential oils in larger bottle sizes is so necessary for me because I am constantly making my own self- and home-care products, and go through the smaller sized bottles way too quickly (and don't realize it until I'm out of something I need!). Sweet orange is such a great example- I add it to my cleaning products (carpet powder especially), my diffusions and my skin care products (I love combining it with frankincense for a homemade skin cream), so getting the 16 oz bottle lasts me months and months, rather than having to constantly stock up on a weekly basis."

INTRODUCING OUR SUSTAINABLE

PALO SANTO Berry

Despite numerous requests in recent years, Aura Cacia has not carried palo santo essential oil due to the unsustainable harvesting of the trees. Bursera graveolens is a wild-growing small tree that is regarded as at risk for being endangered.

Aura Cacia has partnered with a supplier that has discovered a way to sustainably distill the oil from the fruit without damaging the trees. The standard method for harvesting palo santo requires the tree to be cut down, whereas harvesting the palo santo berry only requires seventy percent of the berries to be trimmed. The remaining berries are left unharvested, which allows the tree to produce more nutrients to ripen the berries and complete the regeneration cycle.

The supplier for Aura Cacia Palo Santo Berry Essential Oil has been accepted into the Well Earth Program, Frontier Co-op's internal sustainable supply chain program, to support the grower communities in Nicaragua. Palo santo essential oil also presents financial stability to those harvesting it, as it offers diversification to their income in the rural areas in which they live.

Charlynn Avery

"I love the Ready-to-Use oils because they teach appropriate and safe dilution to all users. As someone who uses a lot of oils, I can use these as a blending starting point for many other great essential oils and the dilution ratio helps me know exactly how much of each oil is in the blend."
