

Short CV: Effat El Sherbini

Effat El Sherbini “Prof. Microbiology, Theodor Bilharz Research Institute” is a Faculty of Medicine Cairo University graduate (M.B. B.Ch) Acting Head of Microbiology department (1980-1985, 1991-1995); Head of clinical laboratories department and supervisor of the technical bureau (1995-2000), Head of Microbiology department (2000-2003), Vice President for research departments (2003-2008), at Theodor Bilharz Research Institute; Consultant Microbiology at Kuwait chest hospital (1985-1990).

Her post graduate studies were Microbiology diploma (Major Microbiology and Minor Clinical Chemistry), Ph.D. (The Interrelationship between Schistosomal infection and bacterial infection). Research interest is diagnostic tools in gastro intestinal infectious disease. Two scholarships in Germany and Finland (1981, 1985). Shared as a group leader in the FP7 ERA Wide project, which developed a strategic action business plan to Theodor Bilharz Research Institute.

Group leader to Intellectual Property Rights team at the Technology Innovation Commercialization Office at Theodor Bilharz Research Institute.