Sunday Meditation

I'm overcome with gratitude for the grace that rescued me and the grace that kept me for the first 30 years of my life. I was entirely self-centered, wholly motivated by selfish ego. My heart was darkened by iniquity and I flirted recklessly with life-threatening behavior. I was a stranger, alienated from God, "fulfilling the desires of the flesh and the mind, and was by nature" worthy of wrath (Eph. 2:3). Yet God mercifully kept me from committing "sin unto death," (I John 5:16-17), preserving me alive and healthy despite my irresponsible life. If God loved me and kept me during those rebellious times, how much more will He keep me now that I am sincerely (though imperfectly) trying to obey Him in all things! I felt then, and still feel, the joy and freedom of knowing that my sins and follies are forgiven and my eternal destiny is secure. All for Jesus, Richard
