White Lotus' "off the beaten path" location on Mission Blvd. is "part of its appeal," says owner Patty Kulish. She and her husband, Curt, converted a former residence on five acres into "a healing spa."

Bamboo floors, high efficiency appliances and other details add to the salon's environmentally conscious, nature-based philosophy. All products and services adhere to this ideal, including organic, plant based formulas and state-of-the-art but non-invasive treatments such as vibroacoustic therapy, which relaxes the mind and body to the same frequency and has been used to treat a variety of physical and emotional afflictions.

Even facial peels are not chemical based. Kulish stresses that "even though things are all natural, you can still get fantastic results." All staff members have "extensive experience and education in their respective fields," she adds.

Services: Waxing, facials, massage, feet and hand treatments, eyelash and eyebrow improvements, private parties, hypnotherapy, vibroacoustic (music) therapy, onsite gallery.

Retail: Eminence Organics, SpaRitual, PureOlogy ■
