Our Mission

"Management and Environmental Technologies' mission is to stimulate community empowerment through education, training, and economic development.

The goal is to improve the quality of life in the community, by contributing to the economic stability of its residents, and the organizations and businesses upon which they depend."

Company Profile

Management and Environmental Technologies, Inc. is a full service management consulting firm providing services to the private and public sectors in the areas of community development, business development, education, training, and information systems integration.

Founded in 1993 by Corrie N. Mitchell, the firm focuses on providing consultant services that facilitate the growth and development of the community, its residents, businesses, and its organizations.

MET, Inc. is a women/minority owned and operated corporation with both U.S. Small Business Administration 8A and HUBZone small business concern certification.

Working with government, quasi-government, small businesses, and non-profit agencies, MET, Inc. provides consultation in the areas of program development, project management, contract compliance, welfare to work initiatives, and other services which bridge the gap between reliable strategies and new paradigms for change. MET, Inc.'s clients include public utilities, municipal governments, training institutions, business incubators, empowerment zone organizations, public health agencies, state agencies, and private firms in the health care industry.

Through experienced consultants representing diverse backgrounds and cultures, MET, Inc. provides the skills needed to assist private for profit and non-profit organizations in becoming viable contributors to the economic stability of their communities while advancing their own economic sustainability. Additionally, MET, Inc.'s extensive experience in the public sector enables it to provide consultant services for local state, and federal government agencies.

Dear Ms. Mitchell:

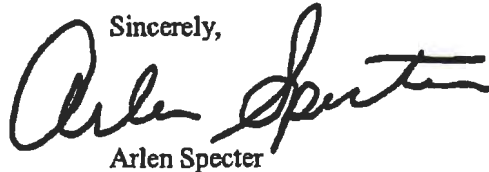

It has come to my attention that on August 8, 2007, MET, Inc. will be honoring the deserving community participants of its various programs serving West Philadelphia and its vicinity. It is my understanding that MET, Inc., a minority and female-owned and operated corporation dedicated to economic development, maintains important programs aimed at improving the lives of West Philadelphians through technology training, crime prevention and employment placement services.

MET, Inc.'s programs have led participants to exceed all expectations, and are being recognized accordingly. Technological skills are an essential element of success in today's economy, and reducing crime is fundamental in improving the lives of all Philadelphians. Together with finding jobs and succeeding professionally, the honorees of MET, Inc.'s programs stand as important individuals, vital to the future success of their communities.

I commend the recipients of tonight's awards for their dedication and achievement in their respective programs; they stand as fine examples of the programs' successes, and should be considered role models. I encourage them, and all community members, to continue to achieve and strive towards excellence.

My best wishes and once again, congratulations.

Sincerely,

Arlen Specter
