Quebec OK's Closer Check On Dorval Taxi Cabs

Committee, However, Turns Aside Bid For Wider Power Over Signs

"On the whole, we are well satisfied with the reception of the Dorval Bill, as presented at Quebec last week," so stated Dorval Mayor R. John Pratt today, and Mr. Pratt went on to say that, even though some of the requested powers have been delayed, steps in the right direction have been made and ground has been broken to correct some unfortunate faults in the present situation.

TAXICABS

On one central count, The City was successful, when the Private Bills Committee of the Quebec Legislative Assembly granted Dorval authority to keep a closer check on the taxi industry. Under a new amendment to the City's charter, municipal authorities can require that all taxicabs be equipped with an identification card and photograph of the owner, driver or operator of the vehicle. In addition, Dorval authorities may have the permit of any taxi driver, owner or chauffeur revoked temporarily or permanently for any one of a number of contraventions against transportation and traffic laws.

advertising are often mistaken for traffic signals."

Dorval, however, under the Cities and Towns Act, still retains essential powers governing placement and size of outdoor signs.

TAXES PAID YEARLY

The committee adopted another sought-after clause which will make Dorval municipal taxes collectible (or payable) in one yearly instalment instead of the current four instalments.

The request by the City of Dorval for the extension of bus transportation by the MTC to Dorval was not granted. This matter of Island transportation is also under consideration by the Montreal Metropolitan Commission and is expected to be an important factor in their forthcoming "master plan" for the entire Island.

PINE BEACH CROSSING

With regard to the Pine Beach Crossing closing, and objections thereto, City Manager Rene A. LeBlanc today told THE REPORTER that the city is definitely not involved. Mr. LeBlanc stated that the property belongs to the railroads, and the Board of Transport Commissioners ordered the crossing closed when Cardinal Avenue opened. In order to have it changed, a petition is necessary -- and this petition must then be submitted to City Council for forwarding to the Board of Transport Commissioners.

Other Council news included a recorded objection by Dorval Safety Council at Council's failure to put through certain of its recommendations. However, at last Friday's meeting it was agreed that certain improvement was needed between safety group and Council. By this means, it was hoped, better results might be obtained.

The new public works buildings on Violet Crescent will be the scene of an April 9 "Open House" at which the City will act as host to the citizenry desirous of seeing the new buildings.

The property improvement taxes apportioned to landowners in the Westwood Avenue area, north of the tracks near part of Elmridge Golf Club and Dorval Airport, have brought murmurs of dissatisfaction. Council agreed that Ald. George Goodale and City Manager Rene A. LeBlanc should meet with representatives of this group and report back to Council.

THE LIBRARY-MINDED LADIES OF DORVAL are holding another "Telephone Bridge" this year in aid of the Library. Last year, more than $700, was raised, and this year everybody's determined to push that figure over the $1,000 mark. Here are the time organizers and workers. Mrs. Greeniaus, front centre, is in charge of prizes, and she is flanked by Mrs. Priere, seated at left, and Mrs. Anderson, right. The quarter at top are, left to right: Mrs. Farrar, Mrs. Brockhurst, Mrs. Payer and Mrs. Hayman. Just another instance of fine ladies getting together to work for a good Dorval cause.

Talk On Bermuda Enjoyed By C of C

The monthly meeting of the Dorval Chamber of Commerce was held at the El Paso Cafe, Lachine, Que. on the 20th of January 1960. The guest speaker was Mr. Sid Sherwood the owner and manager of the Sherwood Manor in Bermuda.

Mr. Sherwood gave a very interesting and amusing talk on Bermuda, and tourism in Bermuda. This was followed by a film entitled "This is Bermuda" in colour, and this film showed in its final stages a brief glimpse of Mr. Sherwood's place, Sherwood Manor. This film had won an award for its excellent portrayal of life in Bermuda.

The discussion and talk on Bermuda was of particular interest in that the weather outside was stormy with a great deal of snow falling.

The president of the Dorval Chamber of Commerce, Allan Capel, gave a brief resume of the activities of the water pollution committee in the absence of its Chairman, Ross Smith. Roy Ameron has accepted the position as co-chairman of this committee. Plans have been made to launch an all-out attack on the pollution of the St. Lawrence and Ottawa waterways, and other Chambers of Commerce, service clubs, etc., are being asked to form committees and cooperate in this effort.

Paul Gravelle, Chairman of the Membership Committee, outlined his plans for a greatly increased membership, and has formed a large assisting committee to work on this project. Application forms and letters have gone out to all prospective members urging them to take part in a worthwhile community organization, the C. of C.

There was considerable discussion by the meeting at large on the subject of a hospital for the City of Dorval. It was the feeling of the meeting that in the light of the present action on the Lakeshore for a hospital, that research should be done on the matter, and with the main objective that, if and when a hospital is built on the Lakeshore, it should be in the City of Dorval. This follows up the original plans laid down when the Dorval Chamber of Commerce was formed one and a half years ago. Mr. Harry Hills has taken over the chairmanship of this committee.

"LIGHT-UP" FOLKS AND FIGHT POLIO

Over three hundred mothers in Dorval will be marching with thousands of others in Canada and the United States as they knock on every door next Monday night (February 1st) to raise funds for the March of Dimes. It is hoped that the citizens of Dorval will keep their porch lights burning between 7:00 and 8:00 p. m. to welcome the canvassers and answer their appeal by giving generously to continue the fight against polio and help in the rehabilitation of victims of this and other crippling diseases.

Some of the captains in Dorval are Mrs. A. Pasquin, Mrs. L. Hamel, Mrs. Roland Charland, Mrs. A. P. Brown, Mrs. R. O. Boland, Mrs. A. G. Maxham, Mrs. Frank Newcombe, Mrs. W. Vokey, Mrs. E. Haley, Mrs. L. Cobham, Mrs. T. E. Stone, Mrs. W. H. Wilson, Mrs. T. J. MacGregor, Mrs. L. Whalen, Mrs. G. McLeod, Mrs. D. Hargrave, Mrs. G. A. Candler, Mrs. D. D. Butler, Mrs. R. C. Lapson, Mrs. R. N. Gray, Mrs. R. Paterson, Mrs. H. Beaudoin, Mrs. Lloyd Davis, Mrs. Leonard Shulman, and Mrs. James A. Mowry.

COMMERCIAL SIGNS

On another count, however, Dorval was only partly successful. As Mayor Pratt expressed it: "Prominent among the requested extra powers was one which would have given the City of Dorval more control over commercial signs on its streets and roads. The committee was of the mind that some of these requested powers were a little premature, and so the legislation has been delayed temporarily pending further study of its implications, partly due to the novelty of such overall control in this part of the world. It is an unfortunate fact, Mayor Pratt went on, that in order to control bad advertising it is sometimes necessary to limit potentially good advertising."

The City of Dorval had sought to obtain from the legislature wide controlling powers over the size, color and nature of signs in general, whether illuminated or of the non-illuminated variety. City Lawyer Guy Payer pointed out to the committee that several service stations had apparently started a contest to see who could have the biggest, and most colorful signs. "It has come to a point," said Mr. Payer, "where motorists are utterly confused. Some of the lights used for

Retarded Children To Have Campaign

The Lakeshore Branch of the Quebec Association for Retarded Children will hold a general meeting Monday, February 1st, at 8:30 p. m. at the Lakeside Clubhouse, 31 Coolbreeze Avenue, Lakeside. The Executive Committee will report on the progress of the many ways in which help is being provided to retarded children.

All members and friends are urged to attend. The Association is particularly anxious to obtain new members. Anyone living in Dorval or Porboro and west to Hudson included is in the area serviced by the Lakeshore Branch.

The guest speaker at this meeting will be Miss Lucille Cregheuer, M.S.W. who will speak on the role of the social worker in the field of retardation. Miss Cregheuer is a staff member of the Provincial Association, and her training and experience are now being made available to the Lakeshore Branch. The meeting will review the progress of the Association's school special classes, which meet daily, and include pupils from Lachine, Dorval, Pointe Claire, Beaconsfield, Baie D'Urle, Roxboro, St. Genevieve, Hudson, and Comox. A Parent-Teachers night has just been held, last Monday, January 25th.

The annual Fund Raising Campaign for the Province of Quebec, Montreal District, will be held March 12th to 26th, and the Lakeshore Branch will be responsible for the campaign in its own area. Many volunteers will be needed for canvassing, and all citizens will be asked to contribute generously. These funds are needed to support and enlarge the school, and bolster a fund towards the day the Lakeshore Branch can operate its own building.

Retarded Children can and are being helped. Come to Monday's meeting and lend your support.

THE BOYS IN WORLD WAS IT NEVER SAW MORE BARBED WIRE, and not a few were displeased when the barriers went up at the Pine Beach crossing last week. But, as City Manager Rene LeBlanc tells it in the page one story of today's REPORTER, nothing can be done about reopening the crossing until the citizens get a petition and forward it to Council, who will then present the beef to the Board of Transport Commissioners. Unless you can high-jump better than young Olympic star John Thomas, don't try to hurdle the wire barrier. C.A. Barber Photo

STRICTLY FOR THE AMAZONS

Contemporary literature, both in play and story form, is well spiced with fantasy concerning the battle between the sexes. James Thurber dealt engagingly with the subject years ago, and even before that, The Warrior's Husband comically portrayed a situation in which the women took over and subjugated the "weaker" males.

All this makes for good reading, but it borders too close on reality when our "young ladies" rewrite the book for themselves. The hand that will eventually rock the cradle looks strangely out of place in the prize ring.

Just recently, a 12-year-old boy - admittedly given to the traditional pranks and teasing peculiar to little boys - took a fearful shelling from five, yes five girls. The youngster was beaten so badly, and kicked with such viciousness, that he sustained, besides internal injuries, a broken thumb and several other vivid scars of battle. He spent more than three days under sedation, and, according to his harried mother, is still experiencing night mares.

The principal and teachers at Courtland Park School, where all involved were students, dealt sternly with the attackers, but disciplining the future behavior of the unladylke junior distaffers would definitely seem more the job of their parents.

We hope the penalties imposed at home were severe enough to teach a lesson. Violence, in any form, and at any age, is a terrifying business - the taste of blood is an acquired taste, and today's combatants are the warmakers of tomorrow.

Better a course in sewing or social work, and leave the Marquis of Queensbury business to the men.

Letters To The Editor

The Editor,
The Dorval Reporter.

Some of the questions we have touched since the printing of "K.M.'s" excellent column on Harmony Inc., prompt me to clarify a few points which were not covered at that time.

One unfortunate pre-conceived idea is that "barbershoppping" is the hawdy howling of some song usually favoured by inebriated gentlemen clustered around a lamp-post at 3 a.m. The songs more usually favoured by women's barbershop groups are the time-honoured ones they have been singing around the house for years: "Harvest Moon," "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi" and "My Heart Stood Still" are three examples. The arrangement of the song is what determines the style popularized as "barbershop," and is voiced with the highest (tenor) harmony being carried above the melody (lead) with two alto parts (baritone and bass) below the lead. The harmony moves vertically as it were, throughout the song, and strives always to have four different notes for each chord. This sounds very technical, but the great advantage of barbershop harmony is that no musical knowledge is necessary of enjoy taking part. It is simple and effective. In fact, accomplished musicians might even become bored with it!

There is no association or affiliation between S.P.R.H.S.Q.S.A., Sweet Adelines, Inc., and Harmony, Inc., except in the relationship they share in their arrangements of songs, and the basic organization of their separate groups. In the case of Harmony, Inc., the International Headquarters is based in Providence, R.I., but the International Board of Directors is composed of both Canadian and American members. There is no limit to the number of Chapters in any given city, but no Chapter may have less than 12 members to receive its charter. Each Chapter has its own Executive and By-Laws, and appointed Delegates from each Chapter carry the business of their respective Chapters to Headquarters at mid-year and annual meetings.

In comparison to Sweet Adelines, Inc., Harmony, Inc., is very small, but few Canadian representatives are all very proud of the fact that personal integrity forbade them to embrace an amendment to the existing by-laws of Sweet Adelines, Inc., which was issued in June 1958, and prohibited membership of coloured women, although the word "white" was qualified by the inclusion of ethnic groups other than white. These Canadian women banded together with their American counterparts, and Harmony, Inc. was born.

The Code of Ethics presently being drawn up by two Canadian members, is based on the same principles of fellowship and freedom as those on which the United Charter is founded, and it is the fond hope of all the women in Harmony, Inc., that they can behave in such a way that they bring harmony to their relationships with others as well as sing in Harmony. They feel that it is just as important for a prospective member who may have biased feelings of racial matters to know that she mix with others not of her colour or creed, as it is for prospective members of any ethnic group to know that this organization is willing to accept her application.

A very disturbing and Shocking incident took place near the Courtland Park School on January 14th. Five girls from Grade VI of this school jumped and beat-up a 12 year old boy on his way home about 3:30 p.m. The boy suffered a broken thumb and sundry other physical injuries and who knows what sort of psychological injuries may be left by such an attack? From evidence gathered it was obviously a premeditated attack and did not stem from a sudden whim. The school claims they are not legally responsible as the attack did not occur on the school grounds. But surely it could assume a moral responsibility and see that some form of punishment was meted out to the five offenders. If the parents of these children are unable to bring them up to be decent citizens, then I consider the school should be allowed to deal with them in any way it sees fit. If this incident is to be hushed up and allowed to go unnoticed, how many other children are going to be similarly attacked or possibly injured for life,

John Pratt Reports From Ottawa

Parliament Opens

On Thursday, January 14th, the Canadian Parliament was opened by the new Governor-General, General George F. Vanier, with all the usual pomp and circumstances. There is no doubt that the traditional ceremonies possess a wealth of meaning for all those who have some knowledge of the historic background of our democratic Parliament. Even those who may be ignorant of this background must certainly enjoy the physical display and fanfare surrounding the ceremonies. However, there are many inconsistencies and irrelevancies that must strike the intelligent observer. For instance, the Governor-General, his entourage, and all the many officials, are magnificently attired in resplendent uniforms and all the ladies who are invited as guests are expected to appear in full evening dress, even though the ceremonies take place in the middle of the day. In contrast to this, a great number of members of Parliament appear in plain, ordinary business suits. Although a certain number like the trouble to wear the traditional morning coat and striped trousers, there are, on the other hand, a few who insist on turning up in loud sport jackets and blazing ties, probably to assert their democratic nature. In fact, I remember one gentleman from a northern constituency turning up in a parka. The result is a hodge-podge which hardly adds to the dignity of the occasion. It seems to me that if regimental officers are expected to equip themselves with a proper uniform, the least a $10,000 a year member of Parliament could do would be to outfit himself as befits the importance of the ceremonies. Either this or give up the entire pomp and circumstance completely, as the present custom is becoming more ridiculous every year.

Colorful Ceremony

The opening ceremony is based largely upon the members of the House of Commons being called to go to a railing or bar which blocks the entrance to the Senate Chamber, there to hear the Speech from the Throne delivered by the Governor-General, in the absence of Her Majesty. As the area is so crowded with guests, it is almost impossible for the members to hear anything, except a few who manage to get in through the doorway. As a result, it has become the practice for the members who cannot get into move over en masse to a room at the other end of the building where they can sit comfortably in upholstered chairs and watch the entire proceedings on TV, in those years when TV service happens to be provided by the CBC. In other years, they have to be content with radio, but the practice still holds. I am sure this is something our ancestors never envisioned and if something is not done to incorporate the modern electronic miracles into the ceremony, I am afraid that some day no one will turn up at the foot of the Throne except the Speaker of the House of Commons himself.

Lengthy Procedure

Another aspect that must strike the keen observer is that Parliament takes so much time at the beginning of the session, not only over these formalities, but over all proceedings in the first few weeks, while vitally important legislation is violently rushed through, usually without sufficient time for proper consideration, at the end of the session. This is, of course, due to the desire to maintain the formality of our forebears and, at the same time, take on an ever-growing quantity of work which is thrust upon Government. If present-day Government is to continue to become involved in everybody's business, then the limitations of time will inevitably force a streamlining of our methods of processing the growing burden of work. One solution which would be very much appreciated by the ordinary member of Parliament would be the inauguration of a fixed session, similar to that of the average school year, which ment at a future election.

There has been a suggestion that some time might be saved by installing an electronic voting system to avoid the present tremendous loss of time in taking parliamentary votes. An interesting thought is that if we are to take advantage of electronics we might as well take full advantage and install such vote-recording mechanisms in everyone's home. This would be the ultimate in democracy and would also have the advantage of getting rid of all politicians as members of Parliament would no longer be required. The thought has some interesting possibilities and the development of it might well prove that the ultimate perfect democracy would be an impossibly inefficient method of running the country.

THE RED CROSS BLOOD BANK not only specializes in pretty nurses, but when the call goes out for donors, Dorvalites respond enthusiastically to the call of duty. Tuesday morning's Trans-Canada Air Lines' blood donor clinic at the fire hall was a big success, and Mr. Paul Woodruff, of T. C. A. Engineering, 97 Tulip ave., Dorval, was one of the first to show up and roll up his sleeve for nurse Claudette Tremblay. Employees of the airline turned out in considerable numbers for this fine event.

Dorval East Recreation News

The Dorval East Recreation Association would like to set up an elementary figure skating class for the younger girls in the area and are looking for potential instructors. Volunteers need not be highly professional figure skaters, but should have sufficient interest in and knowledge of figure skating to be able to give instruction in the simpler skating routines. Those interested are asked to contact Fern McGeachan at ME-1-0498.

The Association has also announced the start of a membership drive this week and are hoping for a strong response from the many residents in the Dorval East area. It is stressed that the success or failure of this new Association will depend entirely on the support given it by Dorval East-citizens.

Although just recently formed, the Dorval East Recreation Association has already taken steps to assist local youngsters by donating face masks to the goalies of all Dorval East hockey teams in the different divisions.

Prescription for Happiness Shop In Dorval

No city in Canada is better equipped to serve its shoppers. Everything from a teething ring to the latest model car is just a hop, skip and a jump away from wherever you live in Canada's Garden City — and better still, prices are lower while quality is top flight whether you patronize one of the two magnificent shopping centres or the enterprising corner merchant.

And remember: When you shop in Dorval you strike a blow for the individual taxpayer, yourself. Business and sales taxes make up a considerable portion of the City's revenue, and the more sales your local merchant makes, the better off the Dorval taxpayer will be in the long run. Make 1960 a "Shop in Dorval" year. Save money — save time — and, best of all, patronize the man who takes a personal interest in seeing that you get full value for your consumer dollars: The Dorval Merchant.

Interesting Meet Held By Kinsmen

Our last general meeting was held at the El Paso Cafe on Thursday, January 21st.

This was a joint meeting with our Kinetite Club of Lachine-Dorval and the Kinsmen and Kinetite Clubs of N. D. G. The guest speaker for the evening was the Reverend Norman Rawson of St. James United Church of Montreal. Reverend Rawson is a world renowned after dinner speaker and spoke to us in connection with National Health Week which is from January 31st to February 6th.

KIN KAN KURLING: Remember the important date for this very popular project for the school children is the weekend of April 21st, during the Easter Holidays. Start lining up your teams now so they will be all ready for the forms to be filled in at your school. More on this in future issue.

IN FOCUS

By K. M.

The boy who had the best story to tell at school last week was Gregory O'Connell, Cloverdale, who could boast to the kids about the cowboy in his family. He had a wonderful picture from Macleans magazine to prove his point. The cowboy, a cousin, the most western looking one you ever saw. The picture caption claims that "Slim Brecknock could step into any T.V. horse opera. He sometimes works five months without sleeping under a roof. "In Cariboo country, B.C. where the ranches are vast, and where every mouthful of bunch grass is "like a vitamin pill," it takes stamina and skill to be a cowboy. Mr. Brecknock, who three years ago lived in the country of the ranch bungalow, the Lakeshore, must have learned "mighty fast." When snapped by the Macleans photographer, Slim and his buddies had been in the saddle for three weeks rounding up for the C-1 ranch, and driving 300 head of cattle into Williams Lake to be sold.

Censored, but not too much: The members of The Drama Society, Cedar Park United Church, took time out the other evening to do some cutting on the lines of "The Petrified Forest." The drama, adventure, and most of the spice will be there in this very good story when the presentation is made by The Drama Society early in the Spring. Mr. Robert Gourley is directing, and working on a very effective set.

Anyone here from Ohio, or other points west? Mary Ellen Scott would like to acquire a good mid-western accent for her part in "The Petrified Forest." (Do you remember the very good old movie of the story done with Bette Davis, Humphrey Bogart, and Leslie Howard?)

Should Sex Be Taught in Our Schools: A discussion on this subject will be heard by Dorval Gardens Home and School Members at their next meeting, Feb. 15, when a debating team from the McGill University Debating Union will explore the topic, "Resolved that we should teach sex education in our schools."

We had a young Dorval lady in High School who is in training for University debating, Donna MacNeil, Handfield Circle, who attends Sacred Heart Convent, is one of four girls from the school participating in the McGill Student Society sponsored High School Debating Tournament. The debate, in Feb. — "Resolved that Red China Should Be Admitted to the United Nations." In a recent debate Donna and her colleague were able to dig up some wonderful affirmative points on "Modern Advertising is an Insult to Man's Intelligence." They lost out to the negative team — but only because one of the girls' lost her notes on the day of the debate.

The teacher is a Queen: Until she relinquishes her crown this month — — and for longer than that in the eyes of some little grade three girls — — petite and pretty Mlle Paulette Menard, teacher at Joubert School is queen. Chosen as "la reine 1959" at the annual festival held in the village where she lived, Saint Andre — — Avellan, near Lac Simon, she will crown the queen for 1960 at the celebrations there on Jan. 31.

The library official in Montreal who told Father Hogue of Presentation Parish not to be discouraged when their library first opened, and that 20 to 30 members for a start would be a good number, should have been there at children's opening day of Bibliotheque Paroissiale de Dorval. Two hundred children waited in line for books. This library of French language books which had its official opening on Jan. 22 is making a second start in Dorval, with the encouragement of the Priests at Presentation Parish, teachers and other benefactors. It occupies a bright room in the new annex of the church and contains about 2000 books, many of them new, attractive children's books. Mrs. H. Hamel, and Mrs. E. Eranger will give their time as Librarians. On opening day, teachers, Miss Monique Legault, and Miss Hugette Legault, and Sister Bernadette, Superior, at Joubert School, were there to give assistance with the children.

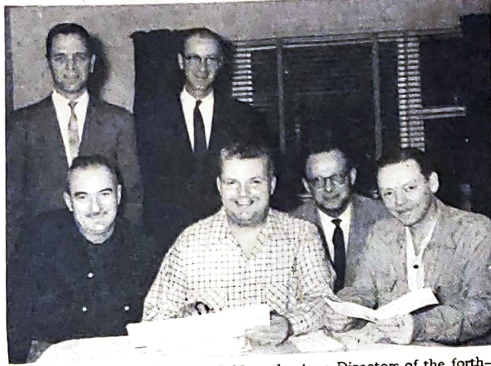

Flowers, a gift from Moulin Rouge Florist in Lachine, marked this gay occasion. The wonderful response on opening day is evidence of a basic interest in books, and the need for a growing library.

At the January Catholic Women's League Meeting, two thought reports were given out. One was from Mrs. B. O'Connell, who, with Mrs. H. Boudreau, had delivered the annual Christmas hamper — — this year to downtown Montreal addresses supplied by the Catholic Welfare. The account to the poverty and need which they had seen made quite an impression of the group. There was some thinking done too, after Mrs. L. Keiller, President, gave her report on a city-wide organizational meeting in connection with foster children which she had attended in Montreal. Under discussion at that meeting — — the plight of two to three hundred non-adoptable children in need of foster homes.

Be prepared for a survey and membership drive by the newly formed Dorval East Recreation Association. Have your ideas on recreation ready when the representative calls on you with the questionnaire which they have prepared. Purpose of the research is to find out the number of children in the various age groups in each section, and the number of adults interested in particular types of recreation. Mr. R.F. McGeachan, whom you know from his work with the Little League, is Recreational Director for the group. He says the Association will be prepared to organize and supervise groups in all types of recreation. The demand will set the pace, and he hopes to find in the survey adults with talents and time for this programme. Right now this group is working with hockey in Dorval East, and is trying to get some hockey and figure skating organized for girls.

Column Notes. The play will be "Tumpelstiltskin" for the Lachine Junior Players on March 26 — — Mr. R.W. Stoekel, well known speaker, who will talk at the C.W.L. anniversary tea on Jan. 31, is the brother of Mrs. E. Cox, Lepage Mr. John Audette is new acting warden at St. Veronica's, serving with Mr. C. Worden, and Mr. B. O'Connell, head warden . . . Dorval Members and guests heard Rev. J.A. Junior Red Cross Busier Than Ever

With the briefest of pauses after sending out 72,905 Christmas gifts in 3,000 stockings to thousands of children and new friends in 128 organizations, Junior Red Cross members in the Province of Quebec are industriously working on new projects.

Under active consideration are requests for a $4,000 Cambridge Heart Sound Recording machine that will aid the diagnosis of heart conditions for the Montreal Children's Hospital; a gift of six wheelchairs for the School of Crippled Children; sundry items for the Alexandra Hospital including sterilizers, tables, wardrobes, chairs for polio patients and an emergency Aspirator; and a Centrifuge, required to make frozen plasma for the treatment of haemophilias, at a cost of $2,000, for the Red Cross Blood Donor Service. These are just a few of the items which Quebec Juniors are planning to supply with funds raised in energetic drives now synonymous with their efforts. As their own special contribution to World Refugee Year, Canadian Junior Red Cross is launching in February a vast national appeal for $150,000 to give assistance to needy refugee children throughout the world. Under this scheme, an attempt is being made to tackle the problem of rehabilitation of 40 million refugees from Korea to Central Europe. Over 4 million of these refugees are children under the age of sixteen.

Another way in which Quebec Juniors are helping members of their community, with particular attention to the sick, needy and handicapped, is in the case of cerebral palsied victims of disease. In school workshops Junior Red Cross members manufacture Crab crutches, number and peg boards, pedal footholders, dressing aids such as buttons, buckle and zipper boards, kindergarten chairs with arms, Laurentian chairs on platforms, stringing and tumbling blocks.

Notable among the schools co-operating in this workshop instruction are West Hill High, where Crab Crutches and Kindergarten chairs are being produced; Verdun High, which has a program for manufacturing Laurentian chairs on platforms; Chambly County High, manufacturing Peg boards; and St. Helen's School in Dunham which has already provided two special Relaxation Chairs each costing $48.50; with funds raised from an annual Fall sale.

DORVAL Sports on Parade

by GABY FILIATRAULT

It is always a great pleasure for us to report on new sport activities taking place in our City. This week we are very happy to report on the sponsorship of our "DORVAL JUVENILE ROCKETS" hockey team which plays in the Lakeshore Juvenile hockey league. For a number of years the lack of recreation for juvenile age boys was heavily felt by our boys, and people involved in recreation programs were anxious to promote something for them. In the summer one Junior B or juvenile baseball team was sponsored by the local firm of Dorval Builders Supply Limited.

The Dorval Recreation Association in organizing hockey on a city-wide set-up always had in mind to carry it on to this highest category possible. Players coming out of the mosquito, pee-wee, bantam and midget sections were reaching the juvenile age and something had to be done for them.

It was a real nice day for every one concerned when the news came that the Dorval Gardens Shopping Center Merchants Association had offered to sponsor a Juvenile hockey team in Dorval. In doing so, the Merchants Association pays some tribute to our youngsters. The Merchants Association recognizes these boys as "citizens of tomorrow", and deserving of some attention from the leading citizens of to-day. The main reason for sponsoring the team is not to have the best hockey players developed but mainly to develop good citizens, making it possible for them to face competition at the critical age; to learn to win and lose gracefully; to learn to make their own decisions when a crisis arises; to learn how to face new problems and solve them; to be in the best condition possible to enter adult life. All this can be learned in well organized sports programs. The Dorval Gardens Shopping Center Merchants Association deserves congratulations for taking an active part in solving some of our local problems.

Last Wednesday evening, at Walters Park, the official opening of the Juvenile hockey league took place with many personalities attending. The weather man was not too cooperative, but nevertheless it was a big success. Our boys were able to tie the leading team of the league, the Hudson boys, who haven't lost a game so far.

Just before the beginning of the game, Mr. R. Brunet, president of the Dorval Gardens Shopping Center Merchants Association made the presentation of a complete set of equipment to the Dorval Juvenile Rockets and it was received with enthusiasm by the boys and officials of the league.

Attending the event were: Alderman George Goodale; Mr. R. Brunet, president of the Dorval Gardens Shopping Merchants Association, Mrs. Dorothy Dow, president of the Dorval Recreation Association, Mrs. S. Berger, account executive for Schneider-Cardon Ltd, advertising agency Mr. A. Johnson, Dorval Recreation Association; Mr. Bob Birnie, president of the Lakeshore Hockey Board; Mrs. G. Webster, secretary of the Lakeshore Hockey Board; Mr. G. Webster, P.B.C.A. and district supervisor for Pine Beach, and also assistant chairman on the Dorval hockey board, Mr. L. Brossit; Mr. Palfreeman, Mr. G. Quesnel, all of the Pine Beach Community Association.

Play-off time is already here and local leagues' champions have to be declared early in February. To be able to declare our leagues' champions in time, it was necessary to revise the schedules so the boys are better kept in touch with their coaches, as changes take place. Here are the standings, games of Sunday, January the 24th included, we are sorry to say that games scoresheets are very slow coming in, we can always get the results of the games by telephone but credit for scoring the goals and assists and penalties couldn't be given unless the area directors send in the scoresheets.

MOLIERE'S LES FEMMES SAVANTES IN THE MAINSTREAM OF A GREAT TRADITION

Have you ever considered how much tradition and ritual which has its origins in the dim past can contribute not only to our culture but to our peace of mind, our very sanity? Herein lies some of the great power of our more orthodox forms of Christianity. Herein, too, lie the healing powers of the kind of art and drama rooted firmly in a traditional form.

Did you realize that Moliere is played today exactly as it was played in Moliere's own time, that LES FEMMES SAVANTES presently enjoying a three-week run at the Orpheum Theatre in Montreal is staged by the Theatre Du Nouveau Monde in the identical fashion that it was staged in 1652; that the characters are costumed, that the stage directions, nay, even the gestures of the actors are substantially the same as they were when the play was first presented to Parisian theatre-goers three hundred years ago?

For me this is half the charm of attending such a play, even if I understand only a little French, half the pleasure if, of course, contained in the play itself. To be in with it, will delight the eye. The stage setting is magnificent. The colors blend harmoniously; the lighting is perfect; the glass dome draped with a map of the heavens in the portico leading to the garden architecturally charming.

The seventeenth century costumes with their pinniers, wide skirts, deep lace cuffs, ribbons, buckles, long waistcoats, and elaborate wigs all blend to a colorful harmony of browns, yellows, greens and golds. Consummate artistry combined with attention to detail lends cohesion to the whole. And what of the actors and actresses? They are more alive, more volatile than we English have subscribed to in the naturalistic school of drama. Their gestures are extravagant, and can suggest humour, grace and pathos merely in the twist of a wrist or the crook of an elbow. The most exquisite timing of this type of gesture to produce a comic effect that of Belise, played by Olive Thibault in Act I. She is the forty-ish female in the piece who fancies every man in love with her.

Moliere delighted in roasting and cutting up a fool, and to him the false wits and philosophers of his day were fools. In LES FEMMES SAVANTES Trissotin and Vadius are the wits who at Moliere's command, become farcical figures of fun, the butt of the author's insolence. And, of course, we laugh at them too, with their greasy curls, elaborately frilled clothing and their ostentatious display of very little knowledge.

At the end of the play the wits are worried and good sense prevails, and the moral seemed to be that the cut kitten will get a husband whereas the brilliant women will get her just desert, -- a book to take to bed, perhaps?

AUTUMN MURAL LENDS DISTINCTION TO ARTIST'S STUDIO

"How I wish our playroom did not have that closed-in feeling," you say. If you are an artist as talented as LOIS EASTMAN COATES you can paint an autumn view of Lake Manitou on masonite, border it in a window frame, illuminate it with fluorescent lighting, curtain the walls at either side, and behold your playroom looks cut upon a vista of misty autumn loveliness the year round.

In all likelihood, however, you would have preceded this tour de force with a long intensive training and a lifelong love of painting, just as Mrs. Coates has done. Mrs. Coates' study of art began in Winnipeg at the School of Art. Marriage took her to Montreal where she continued to study under Adam Sherriff Scott, A.R.C.A. She has studied the art of portrait painting and oil painting. Her skill in this field is evident in a delicate pastel of the head and shoulders of her young sister, clad in a mauve blouse. But what she paints most are landscapes, the Quebec country with all its changing seasons, its rich history evidenced in old stone houses, of sugar shacks, of March sunlight slanting between the trees when the sap is running. One can become so engrossed outdoors sketching even in cold weather that one does not feel the cold, Mrs. Coates says. "It casts a spell over one."

Lois Eastman Coates' generous spirit is reflected in her willingness to serve the cause of art in her community, for a number of years as a member of the Studio Committee of the Women's Art Association of the Museum of Fine Art, and lately as a judge for the Lakeshore Artists Association. It is she who is responsible for the L.A.A. shows in Miss Montreal.

She has shared her talents by teaching a class of neighbours who were interested in experimenting with brush and canvass, several seasons ago, and she had great satisfaction in seeing real talent blossom in at least one of her pupils who had never painted before. She believes in teaching the rudiments of drawing first. "Children should be firmly in teaching the proportion and composition, first." A firm grasp of taught perspective, we understand should precede any dabbling in self-expression.

A number of Mrs. Coates' small paintings decorate the walls of her Coffee Cup at Lachine General Hospital where Mrs. Coates gives of her time as a volunteer worker. Her paintings are so popular that she has never been able to collect more than thirty of them in her studio at one time. This is easy to understand for they express that love of beauty combined with a sense of peace which many people seek for in art and can easily recognize when they find it.

Mr. Tom Owen, whom we mentioned in our review of Hamlet was previously associated with Shakespearean theatre in Stratford-on-Avon ENGLAND, not Stratford, Ontario. Just our over-zealous Canadian nationalism showing. Excuse it, please, Mr. Owen!

WATCH FOR

M.R.T.'s new production, beginning February 9, of THE GREAT SEBASTIANS, a melodramatic comedy of political intrigue, involving an innocent, show-biz couple caught in the machinations of political parties in Czechoslovakia, 1948. With Jack Crisp directing, it should be exciting fare!

"Sports in the school and community" will be the subject of a panel discussion at tonight's meeting of the St. Veronica's Parent-Teachers Association. A representative from the Dorval Recreation Association, a member of the Institut Canadien de Culture Physique, and a member of the P. T. A. will lead the discussion. Mrs. V. Godbeer of the Dorval Safety Council will give a brief outline of the councils plans for the safe-bicycle riding campaign to be held in the Spring.

Teachers of the elementary school grades will be in their classrooms to interview parents from 7:30 to 8:30 p.m., with the general meeting to start in the auditorium at 8:30.
