Legend Teams. Effectively immediately, there has been a revision in how feature lineups are determined.

EVENT FORMAT

Firstly, staying the same, drivers will continue to use their best overall lap in practice as a “qualifying time”. Drivers are then spread evenly across heat races with those races being half inverted by those times.

NEW. The feature lineup will consist of two groups.

- The front group will include the top finishers from the heat races. Those are the top 3 finishers from each heat if there are 3 heat races or the top 4 finishers from each heat if there are 2 heat races. This entire front group of drivers will be inverted by traditional Speedrome rankings (if needed, see rules of competition for a definition of rankings).
- The remaining group of drivers will be lined up by their finishing positions from the heat races (like the previous lineup system). If a last chance race or races are needed, this will serve as those lineups with transfer spots on the line
- This may be adjusted at any time.

The car count and support have been so fantastic so far this year. We hope this change continues to help the growth of the series. Thank You All the Race Teams!
