Project Description: In the Summer of 2012, the University of Chicago hired J.Gill and Company to perform major repairs to the 1800 car parking facility located at the Medical Center. The entire roof level topping slab was replaced along with new joints sealants and expansion joints. In order to replace approximately 30,000 SF of the topping slab, over 540 cubic yards of concrete was pumped from the street level below to the 5th level of the parking garage. Also, several of the structural beams below were enlarged by installing new epoxy coated steel and layer of shotcrete for additional strengthening. The project was completed in December of 2012 with a contract value of nearly $1.7 million dollars.
