Corporate Responsibility

VISION/ MISSION STATEMENT

The Green Energy Fund (GEF) is passionate about and dedicated to Innovation, Teamwork and Excellence in delivering clean and carbon free baseload and intermittent renewable green energy to the world and revolutionizing the way we create energy by utilizing electromagnetic technology and micro hydro technology. GEF encompasses a range of high-technology energy, infrastructure, Internet connectivity and potable and energy water businesses whose accelerated growth is built on the principles of innovation, teamwork and commitment to excellence.

As an ever shrinking and interconnected Global Village GEF shall have a Corporate Responsibility Program called Electrum Tzedakah Energy Outreach Program (Tree of Life) for sustainability as part of our business vision and mission. We intend to support LEADERSHIP where ethics, corporate social performance, global corporate citizenship, and stakeholder management are about integrity and sustainability.

Management education can be an important source of new ideas about shifting toward an integrated rather than fractured knowledge economy, but this means also that the role and meaning of socially responsible leadership needs to be updated. Much further research is needed to create a clearer understanding of what is required, both in leadership itself and in the field of leadership development.

As the company embraces change, we seek to develop the world and the communities where we do business in a better, cleaner and more sustainable condition than when we found them. We share all of our clean/green energy technologies with the world and we focus on innovation, and through our partnerships we reinforce our commitment to teamwork and excellence across the full span of our 7 global holdings companies:

1. GREEN ENERGY FUND 1542 TZEDAKAH<sup>1</sup> aka صدقة (Arabic) TRUST -- Humanitarian Social Responsibility Program for communities where we install GEF power plants.

Tzedakah is an offering of financial nature to be used to relieve the burdens of the poor, the needy (elderly and defenseless), and those in bondage. Tzedakah, צדקה, is a word commonly and mistakenly translated as charity, but it is so much more.

TZEDAKAH

is constructed from the word צדק, meaning righteousness plus the letter ה (Hei) which is a very sacred letter in the Hebrew teachings as we learn that Abram became 'Father Abraham and Sarai became Sarah.

The accepted term is 'giving' Tzedakah but it is better defined as 'acting' in Tzedakah because there is a spiritual action that is a fruit that nourishes and saves souls from further suffering as a result of consecrating our offerings in Tzedakah. The number 1542 unites Elohim with Jehovah.

Tzedakah [tseda<sup>1</sup>ka] or Ṣ'daqaḥ [s<sup>ᶜ</sup>əðɑː<sup>1</sup>qɑː] in Classical Hebrew (Hebrew: צדקה; Arabic: صدقة), is a Hebrew word literally meaning justice or righteousness, also wrongfully translated to signify charity, though it is a different concept from charity because tzedakah is an obligation and charity is typically understood as a spontaneous act of goodwill and a marker of generosity. It is based on the Hebrew word (צדק, Tzedek) meaning righteousness, fairness or justice, and it is related to the Hebrew word Tzadik meaning righteous as an adjective (or righteous individual as a noun in the form of a substantive).

3 Initiative Levels:

1. Capacity-building initiatives—focusing on local groups and resource providers to strengthen capacity for self-help. Capacity-building initiatives alter local norms, roles, and expectations to transform the cultural contexts in which marginalized groups live.
2. Package dissemination initiatives (PDIs) pay attention to user and disseminator stakeholders, providing packaged services to individuals that enable their use of economic leverage. These initiatives have transformational impacts on economic outcomes. PDIs provide tools and resources to enhance individual productivity and transform economic circumstances.
3. Movement-building initiatives focus on external relations with allies and political targets, using political leverage to have transformational impacts on political and cultural contexts. Movement-building initiatives increase the voice of marginalized groups to transform their political contexts and their ability to influence key decisions.

The Green Energy Fund wants to proactively contribute and anxiously engage in good causes for the eradication of poverty and illiteracy and participate in the local communities where we employ our people and generate power, water and internet connectivity!
