Designers Choice offers cabinets and hardwood doors in Maple, Oak and Cherry. We use only select hardwoods, primarily from Pennsylvania and West Virginia. These hardwoods offer the most consistent color and graining. Maple is by far the choice of the majority of kitchens manufactured by Designers Choice Cabinetry. Maple is grown in both soft and hard maple species. The harder the maple is dictates how clean the maple is. Designers Choice Cabinetry only uses hard white maple.

Oak, which is available in red and white oak, is considered a very hard wood. We only use red oak which offers a clean consistent balance with almost any finish color.

Cherry is known for its red colors which over time and exposure to light tend to darken in color. It also has highlights of white or grey colors running through the wood. Cherry finishes more consistently than other hardwoods.

Wood is one of nature's true perfect miracles. It has pinholes, knots, mineral streaks and many other natural characteristics. Wood also is in a constant state of contraction and expansion. The joints may have hairline cracks from this movement, but this does not affect the quality of the joint. The end grain of a style is softer and rougher than the long grain and characteristically accepts stains and paint differently than the long grains. Variations caused by this are part of the natural properties of wood and can not be prevented.

I hope you enjoy the photographs sent by our customers showing the quality and beauty of kitchens manufactured by Designers Choice Cabinetry. We would be honored and privileged for you to purchase a kitchen from one of our dealers. Remember, wood is nature's gift to all of us to enjoy and admire.
