CHAIR'S CORNER

by Tom Watson

February's Quality Progress main topic is "5s in Your Office, Improving Organization and Information Flow for Efficiency". The foreword by the editor in chief is "Clean up the Mess", which discusses 5s in the office. This is a great topic for me since I am over the 5s program in my facility. In manufacturing, we are always talking to our shop floor employees about 5s and how they need to improve. But are we being hypocritical when it comes to our offices? What do our desks look like? How long has that stack of paper been sitting in the same spot on our desk? How cluttered is our computer desktop? We don't realize how these issues affect our productivity. In quality, and in business overall, management is always looking to see how we can lower our costs. Have we ever thought about the cost of time? If it takes 20 minutes to find a file buried somewhere on your computer, how much is this costing you in time? Reducing the clutter on our computers and being able to find files faster has a direct impact on our bottom line. I want us all to think how we can reduce the clutter in our office. How much more productive could we be? Will this enable us to become more organized and make less mistakes, with mistakes being defects in the office? I encourage you all to read the articles in this month's Quality Progress and see how you can improve 5s in your office.
