

Close the Achievement Gap for Students with Disabilities through Specially Designed Instruction

WVPEC welcomes Lisa Meyers of Simply Achieve as she tackles an important topic facing not only our region, but in divisions across the nation, that is ~ wide achievement gaps persist between students with disabilities and those without! The achievement gap between students with disabilities and students without disabilities has remained largely unchanged despite adaptive technologies and supposedly research-based methods. But we can improve outcomes for special education students by significantly improving general education and special education together.

Special education teachers and paraprofessionals deserve high-quality professional development, excellent materials, and the best possible support to enable them to help their struggling students, particularly students struggling with reading disabilities. During this workshop, Lisa will share and explore proven strategies and methodologies that you will be able to apply immediately upon returning to the classroom. She will provide valuable tools that will improve your student outcomes while increasing teacher effectiveness!

Who should attend? K-8 educators and special education teachers, school administrators & instructional coaches!

Tuesday, November 19 (K-8)
6226 University Park Drive
Radford, Virginia
