

Exercise

Copy each tetrachord and the keyboard and staff.

E Tetrachord

The E Tetrachord is shown on a treble clef staff with notes E, F#, G#, and A. Below the staff, the intervals are labeled: W (whole) between E and F#, W (whole) between F# and G#, and H (half) between G# and A. To the right, a keyboard diagram shows the corresponding keys: E (white), F# (black), G# (black), and A (white). Further right, a blank keyboard diagram is provided for copying.

B Tetrachord

The B Tetrachord is shown on a treble clef staff with notes B, C#, D#, and E. Below the staff, the intervals are labeled: W (whole) between B and C#, W (whole) between C# and D#, and H (half) between D# and E. To the right, a keyboard diagram shows the corresponding keys: B (white), C# (black), D# (black), and E (white). Further right, a blank keyboard diagram is provided for copying.

F# Tetrachord

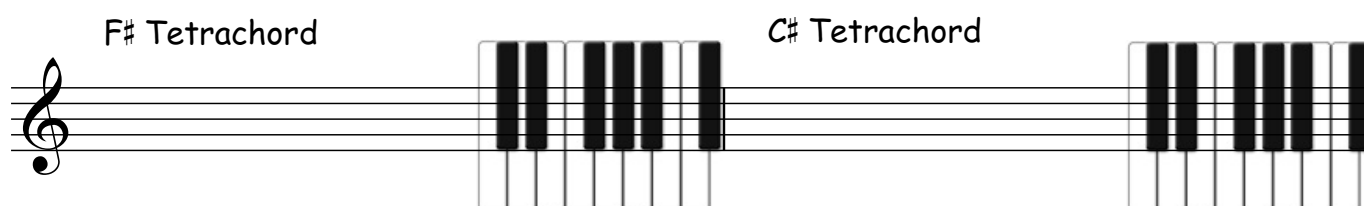

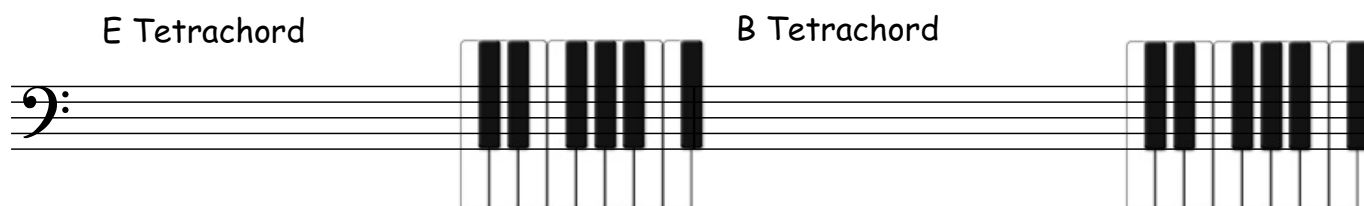

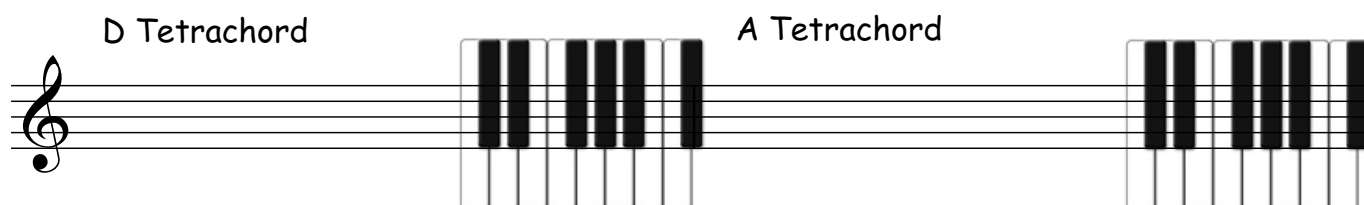

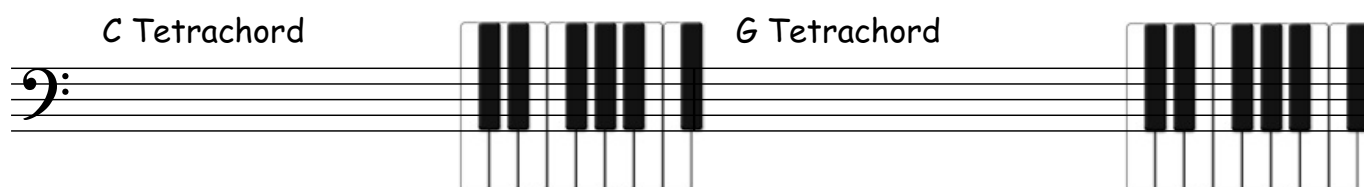

The F# Tetrachord is shown on a treble clef staff with notes F#, G#, A#, and B. Below the staff, the intervals are labeled: W (whole) between F# and G#, W (whole) between G# and A#, and H (half) between A# and B. To the right, a keyboard diagram shows the corresponding keys: F# (black), G# (black), A# (black), and B (white). Further right, a blank keyboard diagram is provided for copying.

C# Tetrachord

The C# Tetrachord is shown on a treble clef staff with notes C#, D#, E#, and F#. Below the staff, the intervals are labeled: W (whole) between C# and D#, W (whole) between D# and E#, and H (half) between E# and F#. To the right, a keyboard diagram shows the corresponding keys: C# (black), D# (black), E# (black), and F# (black). Further right, a blank keyboard diagram is provided for copying.

tetrachord exercises

Write each tetrachord on the keyboard and staff. Name the notes. Watch the clefs!

BLANK KEYBOARD AND STAFF FOR EXTRA PRACTISE

