Victory Apostolic Church

Andrew D. Singleton, Jr. is a devoted family man, a servant of God, and he loves and ministers to the people of God. Senior Pastor Singleton was saved in 1978 at the Apostolic Church of God (ACOG) in Chicago under the leadership of the late Bishop Arthur M. Brazier, whose son Dr. Byron T. Brazier is now pastor and carrying on his father's legacy.

Pastor Singleton was ordained in 1989 and later felt the leading of God to start a church in Chicago's southern suburbs. In obedience to that call, Victory Apostolic Church (VAC) was begun in August 1996 with 12 members. The church experienced such an enormous growth in Chicago Heights, IL, that in February 2009 they were able to move to their current location, a $20 million dollar, 2,500 seat sanctuary in Matteson, IL. In 19 years, God has blessed Victory to grow to several thousand members with over 60 ministries. Additionally, he is the chairperson of the Victory Association, whose mission is to transform churches by training church leaders. Pastors and leaders from 20 churches participate in an annual conference.

Pastor Singleton holds a B.S. Degree in Accounting from the University of Illinois at Chicago. In addition, he is also a Certified Public Accountant and Certified Financial Planner. He has also taken classes for five years at the Moody Bible Institute in Chicago, and is a 2002 graduate of the Master of Divinity program at McCormick Theological Seminary in Chicago, IL.

He was Controller and Finance Vice President of several community-based social service agencies in the Chicagoland area. He has worked not only in Chicago but throughout the south suburbs.

Pastor Singleton has served his community as the first Chairman of the Vanderpoel Elementary Local School Council, along with being listed in Sterling's Who's Who Directory Executive Edition. He is a member of the South Suburban PADS Board, an organization that provides food, shelter and employment to the homeless. Pastor Singleton is also the chairperson of the South Suburban Community Development Corporation (SSCDC), which has trained over 200 young men and women in the construction trade.

Pastor Singleton is the founder and chairperson for "A Taste of Victory" (ATOV) which is an annual event held in Matteson, where over 500 medical screenings are performed for youth and adults. ATOV promotes over 50 small businesses in a festive environment.

Pastor Singleton was honored in August 2015 to receive the Spiritual Leader of the Year Award from the Matteson Business Association. He works closely with the local political leaders to improve the southern suburbs of Chicago.

But most of all, Senior Pastor Andrew D. Singleton, Jr., loves and cherishes his wife of 41 years, Brenda; their three children Takara, Karena, and Andrew III, all of whom are saved, serve in the church and have completed their college degrees. He and his wife are proud grandparents to their granddaughters, Brianna and Ava; and grandsons, William, Blake, and Justin.

Black Pages International salutes Sr. Pastor Andrew D. Singleton, Jr. for Building A Dynasty 2020-2032.

Eric J Lindsay

Founder of Westside Insurance Agency LLC

Each one of us encounters situations from time-to-time affecting our goals or plans. As your advisors, our fiduciary responsibility extends well beyond the completion of an application or the processing of a claim. You deserve and depend upon our team to be well versed on the “right tools for every job”. On that note, I’m excited to introduce another consumer driven resource to our portfolio of products, services and solutions.

There are generally 3 things one can do with a valuable asset: retain it, sell it or donate it. This applies to life insurance as well utilizing life settlements. What are they? It’s the sale of a life insurance policy to a third party for MORE than its surrender value, but less than its death benefit.

Estimates suggest that approximately 1 in 7 life insurance policies mature in a death claim. In other words, roughly 85% are discontinued so the vast majority of beneficiaries never realize the face value of their policies. Historically, the commonly known options were to either discontinue required premiums causing the policy to lapse or surrendering for any accumulated cash. For insureds that qualify and select the 3rd option, the contract is sold for its true market value vs. the pre-determined “disposal” value.

Policies held by qualified insureds ages 65+ with a life expectancy of 2-15 years may be purchased by a wide array of institutional capital resources, vs. individuals, exposing policies to the widest body of funders possible. That’s comforting to me as I strongly feel it’s vitally important to work with prominent, experienced firms so our client’s privacy and security are protected.

Given their true value in the secondary market, this alternative offers a sensible and compelling option well in excess of the contract’s cash value. Once received, funds may be reallocated towards other more suitable or desired personal planning goals.

There are many situations where settlement may be indicated as a sensible alternative such as:

- Annual review exposes a policy as unnecessary or it may not have performed as expected
- Insured outlives intended beneficiary
- Charity wishes to liquidate a donated policy and use funds currently
- Term life policies due to lack of affordability or nearing conversion limit
- Disability or Long Term Care needs arise
- Desire to utilize policy values for personal enjoyment
- Tax law changes eliminate or reduce need for policies intended to pay estate taxes
- Business Insurance including Buy-Sell agreements, Key Person protection, etc.

Adding Life Settlements presents our clients with a chance to realize significant value in an otherwise “worth less” asset. I believe it’s prudent to examine this compelling alternative anytime lapse/surrender is contemplated and examining every available option is in one’s best interest — that’s simply smart business.

You’re invited to contact us for more information or to discuss your particular situation in confidence. Our in-house resource has nearly 40 years of experience and together we stand ready to help you.

Shannon King

Founder of Canna Entice

Shannon King and her team are rising stars in the CBD/cannabis industry and more specifically Wakanna (an African American founded CBD company). Wakanna teaches that for decades the war on drugs helped to cripple our communities as many of the lives of minorities were distorted due to marijuana. Over eighty percent of minorities convicted of marijuana charges in Chicago were African American. Now millions are being made by wealthy businessmen. The team of professionals is determined to make sure our communities aren't left behind.

Shanon King is the founder of Canna Entice, a brand created to showcase the different aspects of CBD including Cannabis infused dining experiences. She got her start as a medic in the United States Army National Guard and went on to become a Registered Nurse and now has transitioned into CANNABIS NURSING. She has worked in health care for more than 25 years. Nurse Shannon is not only a member of the American Cannabis Nursing Association but is also on their Advocacy, Diversity and Inclusion committee. She has adopted their mission which is to advance excellence in cannabis nursing practice through advocacy, collaboration, education, research and policy development. Because of her knowledge as an educator she has been invited to speak at numerous events to share her knowledge of the endocannabinoid system and how it works to maintain homeostasis. Her passion and commitment to the CBD/Cannabis community comes from a combination of the powerful impact that CBD oil has had on her life and her passion for helping people get the care and support that they need. Diagnosed with Rheumatoid Arthritis at a young age, it wasn't until she was 50 years old that she started taking a CBD product, and determined it greatly improved her quality of life regarding pain management and discomfort associated with this condition.

Shannon has most recently been developing leaders and educating others about CBD and building a team to bring benefits of CBD to all parts of the United States. Shannon has partnered with Eric Strickland (strickcomcbd.wakanna.com) and Danita Williams (thehealthyessential.com) to empower the African American community to find a place in the cannabis industry that encourages them to live a healthy lifestyle and give them the resources they need through education, and a pathway to ownership.

These powerhouses are creating a space for people of color to have ownership in an industry that just a few years ago would not have been so welcoming. Shannon stated, "I'm very excited about the journey that cannabis has taken me both professionally and personally. It has been cathartic, learning what cannabis is and isn't. It's an education that I wish I had in the beginning of my nursing career. Because of the education I've obtained through Wakanna's training, ACNA (American Cannabis Nurses Association) and independent reading of medical journals and studies. I see the need for cannabis nursing within our community and society in general." When asked what's her next goal she stated, "She is in talks to open a cannabis nursing consulting agency in Illinois and encouraging other nurses to get educated and join her in this industry."

For more information about CBD or to attend a weekly zoom about how you too can be a part of this billion dollar industry contact Shannon King.

Timuel Dixon Black

Author & Historian

Q. Who is Timuel Black?

A. Timuel Dixon Black was born December 7, 1918 in Birmingham, Alabama. My family brought me to Chicago in August 1919 right after the 1919 riot in Lake Michigan. That's the early story of who Timuel Black is. I have lived on the south side of Chicago first in the neighborhood called the Black Belt by Robert Abbott, now called Bronzeville. (Currently, occupied by middle-class whites, blacks and Asians and one of the most coveted areas in Chicago). I also lived in the Hyde Park-Kenwood area. I lived there after Hansberry vs Lee. (1939, 311 U.S. 32 challenged the restrictive covenant that banned Negroes from purchasing or leasing land in the Washington Park sub-division of Chicago's Woodlawn neighborhood.) (Carl Hansberry was world renowned playwright, Lorraine Hansberry's father.) (Later Shelley vs Kramer, 334 US 1948, arose after a Negro family purchased a house in St. Louis that was subject to restrictive covenant. The resulting Supreme Court ruling made restrictive covenant unenforceable by law anywhere in the US.) That's a brief sketch of who Timuel Black is.

Q. You mentioned your two books. What are their titles?

A. Bridges of Memory. These two volumes cover three generations of African-Americans who grew up in Chicago. That would be my generation who fled the South during and a little after World War I; the second generation is my children; and the third volume is my grand-children. Those included are people who spent most or all of their lives in Chicago.

Q. You mentioned the optimism and sense of spirituality our ancestors had who traveled over the seas to get here.

A. They didn't travel. They were kidnapped. They didn't volunteer. More than is usually mentioned took their lives and fought back than actually made it here. Their attitude was "Before I be your slave I'll be buried in my grave". We were treated as property not as human beings. Chattel slavery it was called. Others who survived both the slave vessels and the brutality of the South adopted a spiritual attitude about themselves, and a responsibility for others besides themselves; their future families; their children, grand-children and great-grandchildren. They envisioned the future and bravely kept on keeping on.

Q. What does your ideal black community look like?

A. It would be similar to the Black Belt community of the 20's, 30's & 40's. In that community the black residents controlled the basic institutions of the community, social, cultural, economic and political. I never worked outside the Black Belt community until I went away to college. We controlled our resources; the economic resources and our political. We fled the south for three basic reasons: 1. To be able to fight back when we were attacked by members of the Ku Klux Klan. 2. To be able to vote. 3. To get a quality education for our children. During the period that I described during World War I and World War II blacks outvoted by a percentage the European immigrants. It was a cultural and political fact that existed that neighbors would say to each other "Did you vote today?" The person who they asked would be embarrassed if they had not voted. So the voting created a power base of politics that elected the first black U.S. Congressman of Illinois, Oscar De Priest; fast forward to the first black and woman Senator, Carol Mosley Braun, and much later the first black President of the United States. The first ten black millionaires in the country were created during this period when blacks controlled their social, cultural, economic and political institutions. Jazz was born on the south-side of Chicago. Nat King Cole and other great musicians came out of this renaissance. At Quinn Chapel gospel music made it's mark.

Q. How did we get divided?

A. The first problem was over population or density of population in the Black Belt. This was relieved somewhat by the win over restricted covenants. Negroes who could moved out of restricted areas. The second great migration occurred during and after WWII. They were pushed off the land by the innovation of new agricultural technology. One machine could now pick more cotton than 100 individual pickers. These families were larger than those of the first migration whose family size seldom exceeded three and who lived in southern cities. These larger families of eight and nine members also lacked education and had little exposure to urban areas. School systems were insensitive to the needs of these newcomers. Without sensitive teachers and curriculums a separation by class emerged as the wave of the second migration moved into less desirable areas. Enter public housing where large enclaves of those without jobs and education could be contained. Large families from the second migration began to either not vote at all or to vote the way they were told to vote by white and black political bosses. The added population and diminishing unskilled job opportunities flamed the fire. Unemployed women in public housing could not get welfare if males over eighteen lived in the household. Men came around less and families began to decay at a rapid rate. Increased drug accessibility and a rise in super-gangs escalated the demise of the black family.

Q. How do we rebuild, rekindle, reignite by 2029 those social, cultural, economic and political institutions that you were empowered in?

A. It is important for the younger people who have the advantage of going to school and being absorbed into the system not forget the legacy of history that paved their way. Those who know the history and their value and the contributions of our parents must do as they did for us and keep on keeping on by leaving a door open for others who are coming behind us. Historically, we have done the miraculous and the impossible many times. I once asked my students when they went shopping what they were looking for? One of the bright ones said, "I look for the best item for the cheapest price." And that is exactly the human capital the slave traders were searching for. My generation knew the value of their human capital. They knew that they were the cream of the crop. Know the value of your human capital and the full value of your ancestor's contributions to America and the world. Then keep on keeping on until you get your full due.

Robert C Owens, Artistry

Portrait Artist

Robert C. Owens is a self-taught portrait artist. He was born and raised on the South Side of Chicago, Illinois. Robert comes from a family of artists. He proudly acknowledges that as long as he can remember he has admired his mother's uncanny artistic abilities. At the age of six years old, Robert discovered his artistic gift after completing a school assignment for which he was tasked with drawing a church. Robert recalls being astonished that he replicated the image so closely. Subsequently, Robert continued to practice his craft as a child and became popular amongst his peers for his artistic abilities. Since then Robert has crafted his own unique artistic style and is skilled in all mediums. Robert's artistic preference is hyper-realistic pencil portraits and oil paintings.

Robert currently serves the city of Chicago as a Chicago Firefighter/EMT, and is one of our first responders. He graduated from Brother Rice High School and received his Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Illinois, CCC with a major in psychology. Robert obtained his Master's Degree in Health Care Administration from the Illinois School of Professional Psychology, and subsequently practiced as both an administrator and psychotherapist.

Robert continues to seek to expand his artistic collection and has been featured on the Founder's Day Program for C.R.O.E. (Coalition of the Remembrance of the Honorable Elijah Muhammad), having been commissioned to complete the portrait of Munir Muhammad. The late Munir Muhammad was a founding member of C.R.O.E and former host of the Munir Muhammad Show. Additionally he has had his work featured at auction at an annual gala for the Hundred Black Men Chicago.

Joseph Michael Chopin

Writer, Director, Producer,

The Greatest Good is a story based on the life of Mayor Harold Washington-the first African-American Mayor of the City of Chicago. The film will explore Chicago's oppressive political machine and how Washington sought to topple it by first dismantling the system run by the late Richard J. Daley, and second, by uniting the African American, Mexican American, and Native American communities of Chicago.

Before becoming Mayor, Washington served as a First Sergeant in the U.S. Air Force during World War II. He represented Illinois in Congress, authoring the Martin Luther King Jr. holiday bill, helping pass the Human Rights Act of 1980 and working to extend the Voting Rights Act of 1982.

As Mayor, Washington fought and won the longest city council war in the history of our nation-foreshadowing the partisan gridlock that occurred during the Obama presidency. Washington received 98% of the African-American vote, mobilizing a dejected and disenfranchised voter base in a manner never seen before. He also appointed an unprecedented number of women to key leadership roles. He was simply ahead of his time, even by present standards. Washington's legacy is well known in international political circles. His influence was cited as a key factor in current Chicago Mayor Lori Lightfoot's entry into politics. Similarly, his rise inspired Barack Obama to run for the state office, setting him on his path to the presidency two decades later.

The Greatest Good is a tool to help unite the south and west sides of Chicago. We plan to cast the entire community in the Harold Washington movie and use the proceeds of the movie to return back to the communities which are currently under-served in the city of Chicago and around the world. Our film will cast a large population of the Chicago community and generate thousands of jobs for the next five years; during pre-production, actual production and post production. We will also premiere our movie at The Avalon Regal Theater on Chicago's south side of Chicago in a predominantly black neighborhood, while supporting black businesses and vendors. It is time for this legendary figure's story to enter mainstream consciousness, with the aim of reintroducing Washington's spirit for community development back into Chicago and the world.

Joseph Chopin is a film producer and the founder/CEO of 99 Years Studio Entertainment, a Chicago-based production, film and photography company dedicated to "furthering the vision and legacies of the world's most iconic and impactful leaders through film and television." Chopin spent most of his childhood growing up in Benton Harbor, MI where his curiosity for film-making started at a young age. He wrote his first film at age 19 and in 2011, founded Chopin Productions and 99 Years Studios Entertainment, LLC- which produces the untold stories of community leaders and utilizes its proceeds to help build safer and healthier communities across the country.

Through his work, Chopin is on a mission to build the largest film production company in the Midwest; and with several motion pictures, short films, and documentaries in Chopin Productions' portfolio, he is well on the way. Chopin has been recognized as an individual of extraordinary achievement for his work to build the community and his contributions to art and culture. Joseph Chopin has a commitment to creative art by using his talent to share untold stories, and for creating purpose behind his work by giving back to underserved communities.

Joseph has authored a library of over fifteen movie and television scripts to be produced on international platforms. One of those movies is The Harold Washington movie script entitled: The Greatest Good. Joseph has produced documentaries and commercials for reputable organizations across the world in Uganda; working to bridge the gap between Blacks on the continent of Africa, and Blacks in North and South America. To learn more about Joseph Chopin, including his most recent project The Greatest Good, a full-length motion picture on the life of Mayor Harold Washington, the first African-American to be elected Mayor of the city of Chicago--visit 99 Years Studios Entertainment's website at www.99yearsstudios.com.

Dr. McCullom was one of the first African-American oral and maxillofacial surgeons in the country with a medical degree, and has extensive experience in implant surgery. He brings a whole host of vital skills to the table - skills that have been honed and mastered through extensive training and education. With over 32 years of experience, he is a pioneer in the art of facial rejuvenation and reconstruction, and specializes in safe, minimally invasive techniques that provide natural looking, lasting results. Dr. McCullom has earned an elite designation amongst his peers and patients.

Dr. McCullom is a graduate of Yale University, and earned his dental degree from Howard University and his medical degree from Northwestern University. He is a former assistant professor of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgery at Northwestern University and the University of Illinois. He has also completed a year-long general anesthesia fellowship at Cook County Hospital in Chicago.

In addition to being a graduate of the world-renowned Misch International Implant Institute, Dr. McCullom is a member of numerous professional dental organizations including The American Association of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons (AAOMS), The Illinois Society of Oral and Maxillofacial Surgeons (ISOMS), The American Academy of Facial Esthetics (AAFE), and The American Academy of Cosmetic Surgery (AACS), among many others. Dr. McCullom has been featured in Chicago's N'Digo newspaper and on ABC News' "Someone You Should Know". He has assisted in live, videotaped surgeries for continuing education seminars.

In recent years, Dr. McCullom has focused on facial rejuvenation and aesthetic procedures, especially with skin of color. Dr. McCullom is one of the top physicians in addressing skin of color issues and concerns such as hair removal, ingrown hairs, scar revision, pigmented lesion treatment, and keloid removal. Some of his most popular procedures are torn earlobe repair and mole removal.

Just as important as medical expertise is patience, and an artist's eye for detail. This is evident in the honest, compassionate, and unhurried care Dr. McCullom invests in each patient and the elegant results he achieves. Dr. McCullom believes that on-going education for himself and the staff at his practice, The Dream Team for Beautiful Smiles and Faces, is essential to providing the best possible care for their patients. To this end, their office uses only the most up-to-date equipment and technologies, the Aerolase Elite laser, for example.

Seeing people thrive with the help of his services is one of the most satisfying aspects of treating patients. Not only that, the smiles, hugs, and other symbols of gratitude received from patients after their treatment fuels his passion for providing his patients with natural looking results. This passion then translates into happier patients that refer others.

Dr. McCullom is a sports enthusiast. He was Captain of the Yale track team and a member of two Ivy League Championship football teams and continues to stay active today. He also practiced Aikido, a Japanese martial art. He spent two weeks traveling throughout Japan studying Aikido at a variety of Dojos. Dr. McCullom and his wife Yetta, have three children: Kristyn, Cornell IV, and Noelle.

Darrell Z. Qualls - President

Chicago Area Autopsy Services Inc

The death of a family member is always a distressing time. This is equally so whether death is sudden and unexpected, or whether it was a slow and painful event. Family members are frequently at a loss as to the cause and the circumstances of the death. Many of these deaths occur outside of the hospital, perhaps at home or at a nursing home. While the Medical Examiner's Office occasionally assumes jurisdiction in non-traumatic cases, the Office does not have the manpower to evaluate all of these deaths. Hospital pathologists are often reluctant to perform autopsies on individuals who die in that hospital's emergency room, or who die at home or at a nursing home if the deceased was not previously a patient at their particular hospital, or if their family physician is not on that hospital's staff. Family members who sought answers as to the cause of death have had no one to whom to turn.

Our goal is to perform a quality, academically-based autopsy that will inventory all of the pathologic findings which existed at the time of death, and will determine why the deceased died and why they died at that particular point in time. Our findings and report will be completely objective. Our task is to answer questions regarding the cause of death and the circumstances which led up to the death, rather than to critique the quality or appropriateness of the medical care rendered to the deceased.

Walker Harris Jr

Founder of Harris Ice Company

At a very young age, I aspired to be a businessman. My desire was given framework during my high school years while I worked after school and on weekends for an African American businessman. After high school, while taking an extended vacation in Chicago with my sister and her husband, I saw and took advantage of an opportunity to make my dream a reality.

At the age of eighteen, City Ice, an ice distribution warehouse center, employed me as an ice bagger. I quickly learned the ice business and its distribution process. Several months after my employment, I learned that one of the truck drivers who was distributing ice for City Ice was retiring and was looking to sell his route. At the time, drivers were called ice dealers and owned the customer list that they distributed ice to. The driver owned an impressive thirty customers. I purchased the drivers list of customers and started my own company. Harris Ice Company officially started March 15, 1972.

After a few years of delivering ice, I learned that City Ice was in the process of closing the distribution warehouse. I purchased the warehouse in the fall of 1973. I continued to deliver ice in my pick up truck and began soliciting new business for myself and two other drivers whom I had hired. By the end of 1978, I had purchased five refrigerated trucks and continued to upgrade the plant so that I could manufacture larger quantities of ice on the premises and meet the demands of my customers. A storage room and a garage for parking the trucks were added. And in 1981, an office building was constructed and annexed to the old warehouse building. Through the years, I have continued to upgrade and purchase new automated equipment.

Today, Harris Ice Company provides service to wholesale, retail and commercial businesses including the movie and television industry. My company manufactures and distributes cube, block, crushed and snow cone ice. It is certified as a Minority Business Enterprise (MBE) with the City of Chicago, Cook County, the Illinois Department of Central Management and the Chicago Minority Supplier Development Council.

Despite my demanding schedule as an entrepreneur, I am deeply committed to serving my church and my community. Through God's grace, hard work, determination and the unwavering support of family and friends, I have become the businessman that I am today.

Dr. Tanya Reeves-Richardson

Founder and Creator of Batter & Berries Restaurant

A board certified physician, Tanya is most known as the founder and creator of Batter & Berries restaurant in Chicago. Born and raised in Chicago, Tanya attended Kenwood High school, the University of Illinois Champaign, and the University of Illinois Chicago for medical school.

Although she has excelled as a physician, Tanya always had a strong entrepreneurial spirit. She was raised in an entrepreneurial family and she is always looking to turn an idea into a business. In 1999 while on a breakfast date, she looked at her fiancé, Craig Richardson, and said; We should open a Breakfast Restaurant one day. That idea however would have to wait until after marriage, establishing a career in medicine, and having 4 kids!

In 2011 Tanya took a physicians position that allowed her to work two weeks on and two weeks off each month. During the 2 weeks off she began her research into the restaurant industry and market. Later that year she came to Craig and said we should open that breakfast restaurant now. She put a team together, found a space and signed a lease and thought of a name. She later designed the interior, which included hand crafting each table with its own unique design. The doors opened in May of 2012.

Today, Batter & Berries is one of the top rated Breakfast/Brunch restaurants in Chicago. It draws a diverse clientele from all over the world. Many top entertainers, professional athletes, business and political elite stop in whenever they're in town.

➤ DO YOU NEED TO MAKE ARRANGEMENTS TO PAY THE TAX DEBT YOU OWE? During our taxpayer representation process, we communicate on your behalf with the respective tax agencies to develop a payment arrangement that is right for you.

➤ ARE YOUR LIABILITIES GREATER THAN YOUR ASSETS? Certain taxpayers may qualify for the IRS Offer-In-Compromise Program. Under this Initiative, individuals can settle their tax debt for less than they owe.

➤ IS YOUR RETURN BEING EXAMINED OR AUDITED? Our tax specialists will assist you in understanding what the IRS is requesting before final determination of liability. Proper documentation and record keeping is a key element in an audit or examination.

Let our tax specialists take the stress out of dealing with tax debt.
