

Good morning! Hope you had a great weekend and are ready for the stretch run.....less than 4 weeks of the regular season remain! WOW....

So ever made a PC call and the coach it went against asks/yells 'but the defender was moving?' I had it Saturday night! Commentators have NO CLUE about the rules either, leading to many misconceptions by everyone who watched basketball except officials (hopefully). Take a look at the clip here to see what you have.....block, PC or nothing.

Whatta ya got? Remember, referee the defense.....did he establish legal guarding position? Did he maintain it by moving any direction except towards the ball handler? Did he 'take it' in the torso? Looks like an answer of 'yes' to all of these.....

Another question... 'what did the defender do wrong?' Nothing.....

This is a pretty clear PC foul (even though Jay Bilas can't understand it!). Again, officiate the defense and 'block/charge' plays become much easier to officiate!

Hope you have a great game tonight.....remember that we cannot put up with ANY taunting...take care of business.

Tim
