MULTI-PLY MAPLE AND REINFORCED GLASS FIBER
CONSTRUCTION

WONDERBOW STORY

STRUCTURAL DESIGN In a Shakespeare WONDERBOW, as in a patented glass fiber Wonderrod for fishing, the usage of glass fibers provides STRENGTH, DURABILITY and LONG WEAR. Thousands of glass fibers, strung under tension and parallel to each other, are bonded together with plastic resins into glass strips. These glass strips are used in the facing and backing of a Shakespeare WONDERBOW. Underneath the strip of parallel constructed fiber glass, is an additional REINFORCING strip of woven fiber glass strands.

GLASS FIBER LAYERS The impregnated color of a Wonderbow is permanent. Since the thousands of resin bonded fibers in the face and backing are parallel and run the entire length of the bow, BACKBONE and POWER are the natural results. And, it is in the fashioning of these paralleled fiber glass strips combined with a firm structural base of woven glass wherein lies the secret of WONDERBOW's smoothness, power, uniformity and non-recoil performance.

When the bow is at full draw, each of the thousands of fiber glass strands in the facing and in the backing are under equal stress and "share the load" uniformly. THROUGHOUT THE ENTIRE DRAW A SMOOTH MULTIPLYING FORCE is being GENERATED so that when the arrow is released, it is dispatched with MAXIMUM VELOCITY AND SMOOTHNESS. The woven fiber glass gives the Wonder Bow firmness and stability. The parallel glass fiber constructed layer provides fast, no jar limb recovery; smoothness and speed in the cast.

MAPLE CORE Structurally, of almost equal importance as the glass fiber face and backing, is WONDERBOW's inner layers of hard maple which provides light weight, resiliency and the structural core. These plies are step-down tapered and electronically bonded together. The glass fiber facing and backing strips are then LAMINATED to the multi-ply tapered maple core. Together, these structurally combined elements give Shakespeare WONDERBOW the ultimate in lightness for handling ease and provide multiplying load velocity power for smooth shooting performance.

EXCLUSIVE NEW CONCEPTS IN BOW DESIGN

THE WONDERBOW "ACCURACY" SIGHT WINDOW

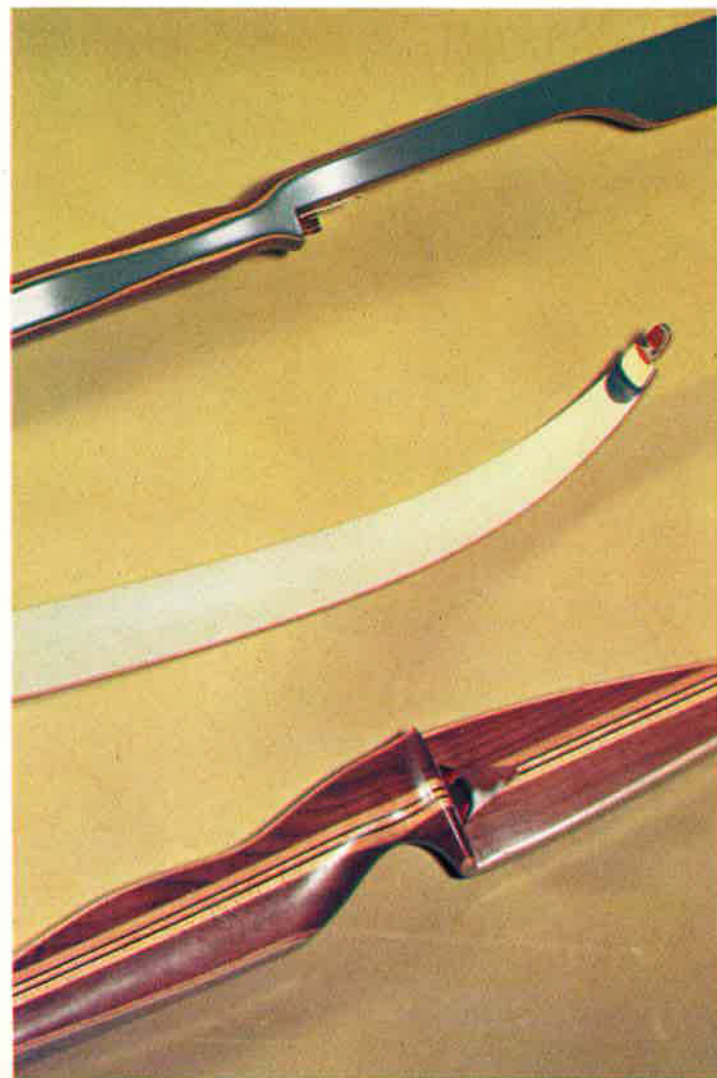

A wide open 7-inch sight window with features that are designed to give "the edge" to the Wonder Bow shooter. Inner sight window is contoured for close "point contact" tolerance, minimizing accuracy deflection or error upon release. Long wear vertical feather rest has a vinyl base, colorfully dyed and barred; non-slip, arrow weight-absorber permits quiet, consistent, smooth delivery and won't "drag" arrow even when wet. Soft arrow plate of clipped, calf's hair won't cut arrow speed; delivers 5 to 7 yards more than ordinary plates under extremely moist or wet weather conditions.

THE WONDERBOW "TRIPLE TIER" NOCKS

Expertly designed for perfect continuous, accuracy-helping string alignment, these beautifully laminated "built-up" nocks almost appear to be individually customized on each Wonder Bow. The "Triple Tier" build-up of glass gives strength where its needed . . . reduces limb twist! The sturdily constructed Wonder Bow nocks are honed to a rounded, smooth edge to avoid loop wear.

THE WONDERBOW "COMFORT-CONTOUR" GRIP

Like the comfortable grip of a pistol — no sharp irritating edges — Wonder Bow's perfectly rounded hand-gripping surface improves control; makes holding to the anchor point easy for comfortable, accurate, non-tiring shooting! Here, too, in the "Heart of the Bow," you find the perfect expression of the bow-maker's art in soft, sedate laminated beauty of the exquisite Wonder Bow; the look is neat, clean and trim — and promises the height of individuality and perfect taste for its owner.
