

LOOSE THREADS

October 2016, Volume 63, Issue 10 www.napavalleyquilters

Fall has definitely arrived in my yard. The Ash trees have covered my whole property with brown leaves. I love leaf shapes, colors and crisp autumn air. As soon as we have our first frost, the trees down my street turn beautiful reds, vibrant yellows and all shades of brown and green. I love to sit in the afternoon looking out the front window at the fall colors.

Septembers' class was leaf blocks, taught by Sondra Von Berg. The vibrant colors of the batiks, and a new technique, made a fabulous new sewing adventure for those who participated. I made a table runner size batch of blocks. I will quilt it and try to remember to bring to the meeting to show you.

Are you creating something special for the holidays or for Winter. Something cozy warm. I hear "they" are expecting to get record snow fall in the sierras. Ok drought, let's be done.

Remember to count our many blessings. I see news reports about places like Aleppo, and I can't think how absolutely horrible the lives are, of those families that live there and in other war torn countries. The struggles of all those displaced from earthquakes and disasters throughout our world. Think peacefully, be generous, in heart with those who are in our lives. And remember how very blessed our lives are. It's the season to be thankful.

Krista Lopez, President NVQ
