

Snowbird

A F#m Bm E E7 A

A F#m Bm

Beneath it's snowy mantle cold and clean,

E E7 A

The unborn grass lies waiting for its coat to turn to green.

A F#m Bm

The snowbird sings the song he always sings,

E E7 A

And speaks to me of flowers that will bloom again in spring.

A F#m Bm

When I was young my heart was young then, too.

E E7 A

And anything that it would tell me, that's the thing that I would do.

A F#m Bm

But now I feel such emptiness within,

E E7 A

For the thing that I want most in life's the thing that I can't win.

A F#m Bm

Spread your tiny wings and fly away,

E E7 A

And take the snow back with you where it came from on that day.

A F#m Bm

The one I love forever is untrue,

E E7 A

And if I could you know that I would fly away with you.

A F#m Bm

The breeze along the river seems to say,

E E7 A

That he'll only break my heart again should I decide to stay.

A F#m Bm

So, little snowbird, take me with you when you go

E E7 A

To that land of gentle breezes where the peaceful waters flow.

A F#m Bm

Spread your tiny wings and fly away,

E E7 A

And take the snow back with you where it came from on that day.

A F#m Bm

The one I love forever is untrue,

E E7 A

And if I could you know that I would fly away with you.

E D Bm A

And if I could you know that I would fly away with you.
