

Ivo and his band The Mile Stones were one of the anchors on our wedding that made it such a success. They weren't just good as a band, but their service is just simply fantastic. They were able to study a couple of songs that were not in their repertoire yet and they performed it all outstanding, very impressive! Everybody danced the whole night, all age groups!

Besides their performance they offer the Virtual DJ service, so before, after and in between sets there is always music playing. And the good thing is that you can just give Ivo your personal playlist and he'll set it all up. No hassle with a separate DJ and a separate band, and all this at a more than affordable price. The Mile Stones is really your one shop stop. It's obvious they do this, because they love it.

We would recommend them anytime to anyone. Except to people who don't like a good party :).
