

My Advance Directive Tracking Sheet

It is very important to keep track of the people to whom you gave copies of your Advance Directive. If you ever want to change or revoke your Advance Directive, you have to let everyone who has a copy know. You can let them know verbally or in writing. The best way to protect yourself is to let others know in a letter and keep a copy for your records. You can also give those people a copy of the revised Advance Directive, which will automatically make the older version void.
