

United Mission of Goodwill (USA) helps Tivoli Students with Free Medical Checks

The United Mission of Goodwill (UMG) gave over 150 students of the Tivoli Gardens High School (TGHS) a chance at a healthier life by providing free medical and dental checks at the school recently. The team of volunteers, many of whom are Jamaicans living in the USA, have joined the Lorna Rawle led medical mission to provide quality health care for the vulnerable in Jamaica.

Lorna Rawle, is committed to supporting the growth and development of the school and is the driver of the project to provide continued health services for the TGHS. In collaboration with the Jeanette Grant Woodham Education Foundation (JGWEF), the team of volunteers, including, dentists and nurses, were in the island to provide medical services at the Community Health and Wellness Day organized for the Tivoli school and community. Dr Courtney Graham, a local doctor, facilitated the team in Jamaica.

Health checks, which included blood pressure, ECG and blood 'sugar' were provided for grateful residents who were out in numbers from very early in the morning. But health screening was just one area of assistance provided during the Health and Wellness Day. The UMG team renovated the school's sick bay making it far more comfortable for students and teachers to recuperate at the sickbay. Nurse Gunther, the school's full time Nurse, gushed with pride as she collected state of the art equipment and toured the newly painted sickbay outfitted with privacy screens, patient beds, mattresses, fresh linen and enough medical supplies to last for the school term.

In the meantime, the Registrar General's Department received over 60 applications while several community residents accessed benefits from PATH and the National Health Fund (NHF).

Nurse Gunther engaged many of the community women with a breast cancer awareness presentation and taught them how to perform life-saving breast self-examination techniques. She also educated residents about water borne diseases and how to prevent suffering a Stroke.

Principal, Mr. Aldrick Durrant, was especially grateful to both the UMG and JGWEF for their generosity and continued support for the school. "The school has implemented a programme to provide school medicals during the summer break but there are many who are yet to complete their medicals. Dr. Lorenzo Scott [the son of two former TGHS students] has been providing these services free of cost. So this Community Health and Wellness Day is another means by which students have been assisted to complete their medicals in order to be fit and proper to receive the education offered to them; for this we are immensely grateful," he said.

A pleased Kiddo Smith, Chairman of JGWEF, described the partnership with the UMG as a very successful one. "This Community Health and Wellness Day is just one of the many ways by which we intend to support the TGHS. Already we have provided medical equipment, including a wheelchair and medical supplies, as well as over 20 bursaries and grants for students across all five form levels. As a Foundation, we intend to continue to support both students and administration in honour of the legacy of Mrs. Jeanette Grant-Woodham, who gave over 23 years of service to the TGHS," he said. "In 2016 we will ramp up our fundraising efforts so that we can impact many more students at the school," he added.

Mrs. Woodham, who was on hand to share in the day's activities, was very pleased and delighted with the response to the Health and Wellness Day. She applauded the organizers and sponsors for making it a success. Carimed Limited provided gift packages for residents.

JGWEF, a registered non-profit organization, was established in 2014 to help support the administration and students of TGHS in creating learning success stories — one student at a time.
