

Dear Shipmate,

Thank you for joining the U.S. Coast Guard Auxiliary. Since you are now an official member of our Flotilla, the next step is to procure your ODU and Tropical Dress Blue ("Trops") uniforms.

The ODU is an Operational Dress Uniform and is used when underway performing missions and duties of the Auxiliary where sweat, dirt, safety, or physical demands of duty prohibit the use of more formal wear. This should be the first uniform that is procured.

The Tropical Uniform ("Trops") is the next uniform that you should procure. It is a more generalized formal wear that is often used when operating Auxiliary missions that are free of physical demands (i.e. public education, conferences, meetings, public awareness events).

Before any mission, event, or gathering, check with the Officer in Charge (OIC) for the correct uniform that you should wear. Please remember that when wearing this uniform, you represent the U.S. Coast Guard, so the uniform should always be worn properly, taken care of, free of rips and stains, and maintained. Furthermore, expenses for uniforms need to be reported on your 7029 form.

This guide will condense the different resources for procurement and provide you with a generalized uniform guide.

Thank you again for your dedication to Team Coast Guard.

Semper Paratus.

Respectfully,

Drew McCollum FSO-HR United States Coast Guard Auxiliary Department of Homeland Security Flotilla 26-01 5 SR Lake Norman, NC
