

Pecos Conference set for
Rowe Mesa near Pecos, New Mexico
*Site Selected in Beautiful Santa Fe National Forest

SANTA FE, N.M.--April 25, 2017--The 2017 Pecos Conference will take place at picturesque Rowe Mesa in Santa Fe National Forest, August 10-13, 2017. Although set on the juniper-clad slopes of the national forest, the conference this year is just five miles off I-25 from the Rowe exit east of Santa Fe.

"We are very pleased to be able to use this wonderful, and convenient, location in the national forest for the 2017 conference," says organizer Gary Newgent.

A map of the site is shown on the Pecos Conference web site Location Page. From the Rowe exit, attendees will take State Road 34 about five miles south to a short Forest Service road (124H). The roads to the site are accessible for cars, trucks, RVs and trailers.

And, in a change from past events, the site offers mobile phone service for most major carriers. It also is convenient to both Pecos, N.M., and Santa Fe for attendees and campers who need to purchase supplies.

Registration for attendees, presenters and vendors for the 2017 conference will open shortly via the Registration Page on the Pecos Conference web site.

See you soon in Santa Fe National Forest!
