92	Railroad Oak	1028 Beachview Dr., SSI	10'10"	116	In the Victorian Era, a mule-drawn trolley met visitors at the pier in the Village and took them to their destination on the Island. Around 1900, rails for a motorized trolley were laid along Railroad Avenue, now Beachview Drive.
93	Old Proctor Lane Oak	1150 Mallery St., SSI	22'	252	Willis Proctor's ancestors lived on the Island for generations. His grandfather, Robert Merchant, was a slave at Retreat Plantation. In 1848 Robert planted the now famous Avenue of Oaks at the entrance to Retreat Plantation. His mother was also a Retreat slave and his father was enslaved by the Goulds of Blank Banks. Willis was valet to William Rockefeller when Rockefeller was in residence at his home on Jekyll Island. Willis Procter later owned a store on the corner of Proctor Lane and Demere Rd. He was also a member of the Sea Island Singers. His brother lived on Jekyll Island, and when Willis wanted to visit him it is said that he swam there.
