

DARBY RODEO ASSOCIATION

Royalty Pageant Welcome!

Contestants, moms, grandmas, aunties, sisters and friends, WELCOME to the Darby Rodeo Association's Royalty Pageant where preserving our western heritage, promoting the sport of rodeo and the Darby Rodeo Association while helping young ladies develop their leadership skills is our mission. Please be sure to READ ALL information provided.

Though this pageant will be challenging for all contestants, the heart of it is developed with beginners in mind. Because I know you will find this "queening" experience valuable, it is also designed with the expectation that once you realize you have survived it, you will want to move on to next level! It is my aim to prepare both contestants and "queen moms" for their next pageant, whether that be another attempt at DRA Royalty, Rockin' RC Rodeo, Missoula Stampede or beyond. To that end, please know that I have gleaned advice from Miss Rodeo America, the National High School Rodeo Queen and materials from the Miss Rodeo Montana pageant to guide me in the creation of this program.

For those of you who are new to this "queen thing", I want you to know I've been there; I understand there is an element of fear of the unknown. As you prepare you may find there seem to be all sort of unwritten "rules" disguised as recommendations. Don't panic. Be assured that I want as much transparency as possible and will do everything I can to dispel the mysteries of the rodeo pageant world for you. I will provide you with advice, coaching and rodeo queen information websites so that you can inform and prepare yourselves best as possible within your means. Success in this pageant is not necessarily dependent upon affluence, leather dresses and finished reining horses. It will depend on your horsemanship skills, maturity, attitude, respect for others, respect for tradition and how much obvious effort you invest.

One key to success is to keep in mind this pageant is an application for one of the best jobs you will ever have! Though you will receive some prizes, your true pay will be of an intangible nature and dependent upon the effort you put into your work. The job you are applying for is a public relations type position that has a western dress code and requires sound horsemanship skills, knowledge of rodeo events and sponsors, poise under pressure, willingness to answer questions and work with the public. In addition to presenting flags at DRA events, your duties may include: work with the stock contractor to push cattle during an event; ride or appear in parades; help with community events; sell raffle tickets; attend dinners; show off auction items; appear with Darbacious the bull at media events; sign autographs and give interviews. The application process (the pageant) will strengthen each of you, and the position, should you be selected for it, will pay off in the long run by helping you to develop valuable leadership and communication skills that will benefit you the rest of your life!

Thank you for your interest in entering this great and wonderful world of rodeo royalty! I look forward to working with all of you ~ Call or email me any time with any questions!

Warm regards,

Mckayla McNamara

Contest Category Overview (some details subject to change)

Contest

Entry fee: $25

Judged categories:

Personal Interview - Contestants enjoy a visit with their judges for up to 10 minutes. This is the judge's opportunity to get to know the contestants more personally and learn about what sets each girl apart from the other. Judges may ask questions pertaining to any of the categories below and may address answers given on contestant's entry form. Contestants may be judged on their professionalism, personality, sense of humor, confidence, honesty, knowledge, appearance, eye contact. (tip: find out how to properly show the cleanliness of your boot if asked to do so. Find out how to ask to be seated and how to sit, and how to shake hands).

Written Test - Contestants will have up to an hour to complete an age appropriate 25 question written test on subject matter relating to Darby Rodeo Association sponsors, PRCA rodeo events & rules, and horse anatomy & health. Questions will be fill in and multiple choice. Lil Miss will answer 25 horse & rodeo related questions, and at least one question pertaining to Darby Rodeo Association. The Judging Coordinator will be available to assist Lil Miss Contestants who might need help with reading.

Prepared & Impromptu Speaking (2 min) - Contestants will have two minutes to deliver an original speech or poem prepared by themselves (and/or with the help of their family). Speech topic for Lil Miss: "Your horse can talk! What does he/she want to say about you as a horse owner/rider?"

Speech topic for Queen and Princess: "You are Miss Rodeo Montana. You have two minutes. What do you want to say to the rodeo community and our state?"

Contestants may not re-use in full or in part any speech that has been delivered in a previous pageant. Contestants will have up to 1 minute to answer each impromptu question. Contestants will be judged on their confidence, composure, clarity, projection, speech content relevant to age, and relevance of answer to impromptu question, and ability to deliver within the allotted time frame

Appearance & Modeling - Contestants will be judged throughout the pageant on their presentation of themselves in a clean, well-groomed, and professional manner. The modeling portion of this category will consider a contestant's poise, grace and confidence while making full use of her stage to show off her western elegance attire. Outfits for this category must be modest, calf length (to cover the top of the boot) long sleeve, western style. Sheer fabric, plunging neck lines or open back are not permitted.

Horsemanship & Interview - Standards for this category are developed with the assistance of an expert in the field of reining; NRHA rules are used only as guidelines; event will consist of an age appropriate interview and simple pattern, queen wave and flag lap. The queen and princess contestants must be capable of safely presenting the flags on horseback in a rodeo environment. Contestants may be judged on their knowledge of tack and its uses, horse health, horse care, balance, control, hands, seat, legs, posture, lead changes, personal appearance and cleanliness of horse and tack. Contestants will be judged according to their ability to execute a correct pattern. You may choose to ride one handed, or with two hands, but once a pattern is started with your chosen hand-hold, you will lose points if you switch hands. Breaking down to a trot to switch leads is allowed, but understand, judges may choose to award more points to a rider who properly performs a flying lead change. No spurs or chaps allowed.

Contest Attire (some details may be subject to change)

Order of Judged Activities

Meet & Greet/Orientation (Friday)
Personal Interview (Friday)
Written Test (Friday)
Speech & Modeling (Saturday)
Horsemanship (Saturday)
Coronation (Saturday evening)

Attire & Appearance - NO SHORT DRESSES/SKIRTS — CHECK WITH DIRECTORS FOR APPROVAL BEFORE MAKING A PURCHASE! (if you are in doubt, text a pic to McKayla)

Please consider National High School Rodeo Queen Attire Rules

Attire at all times will require long sleeves, western boots, felt cowboy hat with hatband, and belt with buckle. Tips: Clothing should fit you well (not too big, not too tight). Color schemes should flow nicely. For example, if you are wearing dark jeans, a white belt is not a good choice. Google rodeo queen images to get an idea of traditional and current rodeo queen clothing hair and makeup styles. [Unacceptable attire includes shorts, tank tops or sleeveless shirts, heels, tennis shoes, flipflops, jeans with holes of any size, sheer fabrics, plunging necklines, bare backs or bare midriffs.]

-Make-up should be age-appropriate.

-Hair should always be clean, neat and away from face. Hair for horsemanship must be tied back; hair for all other categories must be down.

-Fingernails and hands must be clean; a French manicure is not mandatory, but a nice finished look is very strongly recommended (especially for those who are competing for the queen title).

Personal Interview - Western dresses & skirts, western blouse, denim jeans any color (NO holes or worn spots), western boots, belt with buckle, felt cowboy hat with hatband. It is important to present in age-appropriate, modest clothing. Clothing choices powerfully influence our posture and personal presentation (think sweats vs an elegant dress). Choose an outfit that you feel good in, that is comfortable, but not so comfortable that you forget professionalism; and professional, but not so uncommon for your personality that it becomes a distraction to you during interview. This is close-up so make-up for interview should softer than you would choose for Horsemanship or Modeling. If in doubt, ask questions and ask for opinions from those who love you most.

Speech & Modeling - You must wear a dress or skirt; think western and elegant. Jackets are allowed; vests are not allowed in this category. Dresses/skirts must be long enough to cover the top of your boot when you walk. You may wear a leather dress if you choose to but there is absolutely no expectation that you will.

Horsemanship - Horsemanship is the time to show off your horse and your ability to ride with balance and control. The common recommendation for horsemanship attire is to limit attention to the rider's body by reducing the appearance of excess movement. Wear any colored denim jeans and western blouse /show shirt with no ruffles, frills or fringe, western boots appropriate for riding, felt cowboy hat and belt with buckle. Hair must be tied back. No spurs or chaps may be worn. Tips: this is a good time to wear makeup that stands out a little more, a little brighter lip color here is common. Tips: Darker jeans with coordinating belt; stud earrings instead of dangly.

Coronation - again, full western attire is required - You must be dressed and prepared to ride. Make-up and Clothing suited for photos is recommended. Wear what you would want to be seen in should you be hired for the job! Arrange to have horse ready in waiting as you will ride immediately upon exiting coronation.

DRA Royalty Grievance Policy

We want to honor the fact that every young lady who enters a pageant is bravely choosing to put herself at risk of heart-ache and deep disappointment if she does not win. If a contestant is very sincerely confused as to why, or believes there was extreme negligence on the part of the judges or pageant operation, we believe we need to know this. We value our contestants and want to do our part to help them leave this pageant better for the experience rather than bitter, and more prepared to try again!

1. All Judges' Decisions ARE FINAL – For obvious reasons, no decision will be over turned; we cannot hurt one to satisfy another. Though a grievance may be heard, pageant families must understand it absolutely will not reverse the outcome of the pageant results. Your courage in respectfully offering your opinion and asking your questions is welcomed for your edification and ours, to help each of us improve.

2. Complaints must be submitted according to the following guidelines:

Must be in writing;

Must be submitted with a filing fee of $75.00;

Must be submitted after one full week and within two weeks of the close of the pageant;

Must be sent to both the Darby Rodeo Association and the Pageant Coordinator at the following addresses:

DRA, PO Box 279 Darby, MT 59829 and McKayla McNamara 4166 Sunnyside Cem. Rd., Stevensville, MT 59870.

Must include your name, address, phone number, and a detailed description of your concerns;

Must be signed and dated;

If you want a response or a hearing with the grievance board in person you must indicate this in writing with your complaint;

Complaints that do not follow these steps will be classified as invalid.

3. Complaint Review – your complaint will be reviewed by a committee of 2 DRA board members and one expert in the field of horsemanship. The review board will gather information; all parties involved will be notified of the complaint and offered opportunity to respond. The board will determine what action is necessary if any and report back to all parties involved. If you wish to meet with the review board for a personal hearing of your complaint you must indicate this in your letter.
