

THE BILGE PUMP

Keuka Yacht Club

Volume 37, Issue 7

June 15, 2021

RACE RESULTS

A nice breeze came up on Saturday morning for the MCs. The sailors were patient and the wind came up enough to go out. It built to around 10 and that lasted for two races, a two lap followed by a one lap race. Marlo Treacy competed with her dad, Sean, in her first MC race, securing a third in the first race. They didn't race the second as Marlo preferred to drag the paddle in the water. 😞

MC Scows

MC Scows		R1	R2
1981	Kuhl	2	2
2004	Cole	1	1
2221	Wurman	4	3
2396	Treacy	3	DNS

A couple of Es and Lightnings went out hoping for the morning breeze to last, but alas, no racing on Sunday.

A ROSE BY ANY OTHER NAME ....

Why name a boat? It's tradition, it's luck and in many cases it's required (think big boats). While boats are always 'female', a boat's name does not have to reflect its gender.

This week we pick up this series with Roe Hemenway describing his Ideal 18: "This year I acquired a beautiful Ideal 18, Dandy Scarlet, from another KYC member. Its simple, stable, elegant one-design is perfect for me as it can be leisurely single-handed or sailed competitively with others. The new name I chose, elemental, evokes nature's elements (wind, waves, and sun), their basic interaction with the hull and sails and, of course, the human elements involved. Together I hope these create rewarding experiences that I invite club members to share with me anytime!

WHAT'S THE WEATHER LIKE?

A big thank you to Fred Schulte for his efforts in launching the KYC weather station for the 2021 summer season.

Check out the conditions at the end of the main dock from data collected by the KYC weather station (KNYHAMMO24) on Weather Underground. There is also a display unit inside the Club near the bar.

(The link to the weatherstation is now in our footer.)

WELCOME M15s!

There was an exciting Friday night delivery of three new boats to the KYC Melges 15 fleet. The boat set up was supervised by a couple of senior E-scow sailors - George Welch, Sr. and Art Wilder, and assisted by Junior sailing crew Andrew and Caroline Welch, Ashleigh and Joey Meade, and Anya and Alex Brown. Congratulations to new boat owners the Brown Family, the Meade Family, and the Welch Family!
