

Teresa Pearson

Painting since 1973, Teresa has worked in oil and acrylic. She does commission work with a by-line that says, "Let me paint your favorite photo."

The Williamsburg paintings of the month that she paints are popular for anniversaries and birthdays. She does Confederate generals, historical places, individual portraits of people and animals, as well as home places and collages featuring several areas of a farm locality. In other words, if you want a memory to keep, she will do the work for you on canvas.

She has been a curator and teacher at the Windemere Art Gallery for 21 years, previously operated her own gallery, and is President of the Lee Artists Association in Mechanicsville, VA.

Teresa is married to Donald Pearson, and has two children, five grandchildren, and seven great grandchildren. They live in King William County on a fully operational grain farm that is now operated by their son.
