Dear Business Leader,

We at Reagan Radio Network are "Keeping President Reagan's VALUES Alive!"

We also help businesses communicate their services through recorded audio combined with images. We edit the audio to the image. An image with audio can speed up the educational process for specifiers and clients understanding the history, values, products and services your company offers. Plus, the content is social media ready.

In my past, I was the President/CEO of an original engineered product. We had industry leading technical manuals and case studies available for engineers to help spec our products. Even with all this information we needed to teach via phone calls or face to face meetings. Training the contractors and their employees was a lengthy process as we launched new products. The social media ready training audio image content will save your company TIME and MONEY.

EXAMPLE: A unique project where your products were used to SAVE TIME and MONEY. You send us pictures via our cloud, we discuss the unique project then record the story about the project. I edit the audio to the images. You receive the file from our cloud. This process SAVES TIME and MONEY.
