

NAVY & CO TOUR GUIDE

My name is Chris Emery. After serving 26 years in the Royal Marine Commandos, I retired to Normandy to continue my interest in military history.

During my time as a "bootneck" I was located in many war zones. In the first Gulf War, in Desert Storm under 'Stormin' Norman Schwarzkopf', with 3 Commando Brigade. The invasion of Iraq in 2003 in President Bush's 'Shock and Awe' campaign with Commando Helicopter Force. In Afghanistan, 2010, based in the notorious Helmand Province, Sangin, with 40 Commando, alongside the elite 7th Expeditionary Marine Force fighting the Taliban. Between operations I exercised in the steaming jungles of Brunei, and in the deserts of Oman, Kuwait, Iraq and Saudi Arabia.

I have completed numerous beach landings in all types of vessels from rigid raiders storming the beaches, in landing craft, and in vehicles submerged up to my neck in sea water.

TESTIMONIALS

"Chris did a fantastic job showing us the sites, sharing the stories and teaching us about military tactics. He was patient with our young kids and great at keeping them engaged throughout the day."

We will certainly pass along his name to friends who plan their own Normandy adventure."

"I just wanted to let you know how great he was and that I would strongly recommend him, especially to families with children."

It's hard to keep kids happy and willing to go on tours. It made a full day of touring very enjoyable for all of us."
