Week 5 News and Notes!

For those of you that are new, in this section we'll recap what happened last week specifically, the misleading finals, the key injuries, the bad beats and the line moves. We'll include most of these recaps here, therefore you don't have to waste time reading about them in my game-by-game write-ups for the upcoming week. Without further adieu, here's a run down of what happened last week in the world of CFB.

Arkansas ended a 20-game SEC losing streak last Saturday night as the Razorbacks upset No. 16 Mississippi State 21-14. Arkansas was a 16.5-point underdog and were +600 on the ML.

Largest Favorites to Cover:
Wake Forest (-34.5) vs Campbell, 66-14
Army (-31.5) vs Abilene Christian, 55-23
BYU (-24) vs Louisiana Tech, 45-14
Oklahoma St (-21.5) at Kanas, 47-7

Biggest Money line Upsets:
Tulsa +900 won 34-26 at UCF (+20)
Arkansas +600 won 21-14 at Mississippi State (+16.5)
NC State +425 won 30-29 at Pittsburgh (+14)
TCU +320 won 33-31 at Texas (+10.5)
Iowa State +260 won 37-30 vs Oklahoma (+7.5)

Misleading Finals

Cincinnati (-22.5) beat USF 28-7. However, Cincy only had a 332-291 yard edge as the game was a TO fest with 9 of them (5 for USF, 4 for Cincy). Cincy got a 97-yard kick return TD. It was the first kick return TD for them since December 2011.

Florida (-15) beat South Carolina 38-24. However, South Carolina had a 25-18 first down and 36:23-23:37 TOP edge. The Gamecocks also had a first and goal late in the game looking to cut the lead to 7, but didn't score.

Clemson (-28) beat Virginia 41-23. However, Virginia had a 25-22 first down edge while Clemson only had a 466-417 yard edge. UVA covered despite being -2 in TO's including throwing an interception in the end zone.

NC State (+14) upset Pittsburgh 30-29. However, Pitt had a 503-398 yard edge but NC State got a TD with :23 left to win. There was a key sequence in the 3Q when Pitt had a first and goal at the NC State 1-yard line and were stopped on downs!

Kansas State (PK) beat Texas Tech 31-21. However, Texas Tech had 27-20 first down and 471-404 yard edges but were -1 in TO's (interception in end zone in the 4Q) and the Red Raiders missed 2 FG's.

Ole Miss (+7) upset Kentucky 42-41 in OT. However, Kentucky had 26-20 first down and 559-459 yard edges including 408-139 on the ground but had another turnover at the goal line (like last week vs Auburn). UK also missed a FG in the 3Q and an extra point in OT that sealed their fate.

FAU (-5) beat Charlotte 21-17. However, Charlotte had 22-15 first down and 396-315 yard edges but FAU had a 217-82 rushing yard edge. Charlotte missed 2 FG's.

Georgia Southern (-19.5) beat UL-Monroe 35-30. However, ULM had 24-19 first down and 426-369 yard edges. Georgia Southern got a blocked punt return for a TD and ULM finished the game on the 1-yard line!

Arkansas (+16.5) upset Mississippi St 21-14. However, Mississippi St had 24-17 first down and 400-275 yard edges but had 4 TO's including a 69-yard interception return TD.

Bad Beats

The total on the TCU/Texas game was all over the board last week and climbed as high as 63. So when TCU took a safety on the final play to make it 33-31, that impacted some UNDER bettors in the worst way.

The Abilene Christian/Army game featured a bad beat for ACU backers as Army got a 28-yard TD run with :37 left for the front-door cover.

Injuries/COVID Cases

The Troy-South Alabama game was postponed due to positive cases at So Bama.

South Florida had 12 players unavailable for Saturday's game vs Cincinnati, including eight on defense.

Virginia Tech was down 21 players and two full-time coaches due to a combination of coronavirus and injury issues after similar trouble for last weekend's win against NC State. The Hokies are 2-0 despite the issues.

Less than an hour before the Air Force game, Navy announced starting quarterback Dalen Morris was out for health reasons not related to COVID-19. Tyger Goslin stepped in but was ineffective in the blowout loss (much to our dismay).

Both Texas Tech and Kansas State's starting QB's got hurt in the game. Red Raiders QB Alan Bowman left the game after he took a hit to his right leg midway through the first quarter and didn't return. Halfway through the second quarter, Kansas State's Skylar Thompson was hit and injured his right arm. He watched the second half from the sideline in a sling after going 5 of 10 for 33 yards and a passing touchdown. Kansas St QB Will Howard was 7 of 12 for 173 yards and a 1-0 ratio replacing Thompson.

UTSA QB Josh Adkins was hurt early (starting QB Frank Harris already out) and the Roadrunners went to Jordan Weeks who was 7 of 19 for 57 yards and an INT.

Mississippi State RB Kylin Hill, the Bulldogs' leading rusher from a season ago, left the game after taking a hard hit in the first quarter and never returned.

Army QB Jemel Jones filled in for Christian Anderson who got hurt early in the game and threw for 52 yards and a TD and also ran for 138 yards and 2 TD's.

Recapping Week Five Best Bets

Another frustrating week in 2020 as we went 3-3. Two of our losses were significantly impacted with late QB news. First, Navy's starting QB was announced out right before the game (not that it would have mattered in the blowout loss to Air Force). Probably the biggest news was New England QB Cam Newton testing positive for COVID on Saturday. Most books voided the bets since the game was postponed a day. Regardless, we counted our New England pick as a loss on these pages.

Betting CFB World Openers

Every week while most of you are watching the NFL on Sundays, we are preparing for the upcoming week. Here in Vegas at 11am PT, Circa Sports is the first book in the world to release CFB lines and we bet them every week. We think it's the best value bets we make all week. So far this season we are 17-11-1 (61%) on these Sunday bets with an average line value of 3.6 ppg! We posted some of our favorite tickets this week but we want to say that winning is very hard in this industry. So even though we have the best of the number on all of these bets by significant margins...there are no locks and there are no guarantees!

Games in Rotation Order   HOME TEAM IN CAPS
Thursday, October 8th

HOUSTON 33 Tulane 26. Houston finally gets to their first game of the season after they have had several games canceled due to opponent COVID issues. The Cougars are one of the most experienced teams in the country with 19 returning starters and should be one of the most improved teams in the country after a disappointing 4-8 campaign. Meanwhile, Tulane has played three games already going 2-1 SU and 1-2 ATS. The Green Wave finally benched QB Keon Howard in the last game (66-24 win over Southern Miss) and it looks like freshman Michael Pratt will get the start here. Tulane's ground game is averaging 299 rush ypg but note they just lost leading rusher Tyjae Spears for the season. Their other RB's Cameron Carroll (163) and Stephon Huderson (120) both topped 100 yards vs Southern Miss. Houston has revenge for a last-second loss to Tulane from last year.

Friday, October 9th

Louisville 33 GEORGIA TECH 29. Both teams come in off byes after 1-2 starts to the season. Louisville QB Malik Cunningham should be good to go here after an injury scare in the final moments of the Pittsburgh game. Louisville is off 2 straight losses albeit to much better teams than what they will see here. Meanwhile, Georgia Tech true frosh QB Jeff Sims needs to clean up the TO's as he only has a 3-to-8 TD-to-INT ratio so far this season. However, he leads a Yellow Jackets offense averaging 221 rushing ypg so far. We don't see much value here but trust the more seasoned Cards to stop the bleeding.

Saturday, October 10th

2★ KENTUCKY 33 Mississippi State 27. We think Kentucky is much better than their 0-2 record indicates. The Wildcats are +80 ypg on the season but are -4 in TO's. That doesn't tell the whole story as two of UK's turnovers this year were at the goal line in close games. Last week they ran for 408 yards vs Ole Miss but lost thanks to a missed extra point in OT. QB Terry Wilson is completing 69% of his passes so far and leads them in rushing. On the other side, Bulldogs fans have gone through the full Mike Leach experience in two weeks, pulling a stunning upset over LSU and tossing out a clunker as a favorite last week to Arkansas. Miss St had 24-17 first down and 400-275 yard edges but had 4 TO's including a 69-yard interception return TD. They could be without their leading rusher Kylin Hill here. We think UK is the better team laying less than a FG at home and can't see them starting 0-3. We like this bet so much we bet it at a bad number on Sunday.

1★ OVER 51.5 Duke 29 SYRACUSE 27. At 0-4 on the season already, Duke really needs to get a win here. The Blue Devils finally cut back the TO's last week and proceeded to have their best offensive performance of the season with 31 points and 410 yards in the cover vs Virginia Tech. Meanwhile, the market is very down on Syracuse this season but they did get an upset over Georgia Tech in their last game thanks to a +4 TO margin. The Orange are getting outgained on the season by 176 ypg (for comparison Duke "only" outgained by 64 ypg). Both teams run tempo and you don't have to worry about weather inside the Carrier Dome. A sharp group already hit this OVER yesterday and we agree with that.

Pittsburgh 26 BOSTON COLLEGE 20. The Panthers should have won last week as they had a 503-398 yard edge but NC State got a TD with :23 left to win. The key sequence occurred in the 3Q when Pitt had a first and goal at the NC State 1-yard line and were stopped on downs! The Panthers are +187 ypg on the season and are only allowing 58 rush ypg (2.0 ypc). Now they're taking on a BC team that while improved is still only averaging 70 rush ypg and is overly dependent on new QB Phil Jurkovec and TE Hunter Long. The Eagles surprised us last week vs North Carolina and again we expected this line to come a little shorter.

VIRGINIA 35 Nc State 28. NC State comes in off an outright upset win as a 2 TD underdog at Pitt last week. QB Devin Leary got the start and was 28 of 44 for 336 yards and a 4-0 ratio vs a really good Pitt defense. Still, the Wolf Pack were fortunate to win as they were out-gained by more than a 100 yards. On the other side, Virginia looked good against Clemson. The Cavaliers had a 25-22 first down edge while Clemson a 466-417 yard edge. UVA covered despite being -2 in TO's. QB Brennan Armstrong had a big game going 24 of 43 for 270 yards and 3 TD's (also 2 costly INT's) and also ran for 89 yards. If the line goes to 10, we'd like NC State. Totals' players note that these two teams are a combined 5-0 to the OVER this year and those games are going OVER the total by an average of 16 ppg! We like the OVER but we LOVED the opener at 55.5 that we bet on Sunday (see page 2).

SOUTH FLORIDA 30 East Carolina 23. Two teams that need a win. ECU has been really disappointing so far as last week they were dominated by a Sun Belt team. Georgia St had a 485-286 yard edge including 247-50 on the ground. QB Holton Ahlers was 29 of 50 for only 236 yards and 3 INT's. On the other side, USF has had terrible QB play so far. It continued last week as four different USF QB's combined to go 21 of 41 for 208 yards and 5 INT's in the 28-7 loss to Cincinnati. The defense has been respectable and one of Cincy's TD's last week came via kick return. That USF defense might be the best unit on the field here but we don't want to lay more than a FG with this USF offense.

CLEMSON 38 Miami, FL 23. One of the better matchups of the CFB season so far. We expected Miami to be much improved this year but they've far exceeded even our expectations at 3-0 SU/ATS especially on offense as they are averaging 43 ppg and 498 ypg. QB D'Eriq King is completing 67% of his passes with a 6-0 ratio. He should have success vs a Clemson defense that struggled vs a lesser dual threat QB in Virginia's Brennan Armstrong last week. Speaking of the Tigers, it's kind of been a "ho-hum" start for them at 0-3 ATS. Last week they only outgained Virginia 466-417 but could have been looking ahead to this one. QB Trevor Lawrence extended his streak of pass attempts without an interception to 314, spanning his past nine games! Note this is easily the shortest spread Clemson has had in ACC play since these two met in the 2017 ACC Championship game. Clemson was an 11-point favorite in that one and won 38-3. The Tigers are on a 20-0 SU (+35.4 ppg) and 17-3 ATS (+8.9 ppg) run in ACC play since. We lean UNDER.

NORTH CAROLINA 33 Virginia Tech 27. We were disappointed with North Carolina last week vs what we think is an overrated BC team. NC had nine penalties, a missed field goal and a mental error on a kickoff return that led to BC's first touchdown. "We were concerned about the three weeks off, and having a sloppy game," coach Mack Brown said. "And that's just what happened." Now they take on a 2-0 VT team that considering what they have went through due to COVID, has been impressive. Last week QB Braxton Burmeister was only 9 of 25 for 163 yards but the star was Kansas transfer Khalil Herbert who ran for 208 yards and 2 TD's. Now he faces a NC defense allowing just 54 rushing ypg so far. You would expect VT to get back QB Hendon Hooker here. They'll need him if they want to go to 3-0. Again, we don't see a lot of value and like Lindsey Nelson used to say on Sunday highlights for you old-timers "We move ahead to further action."

GEORGIA 27 Tennessee 16. This could resemble SEC games of 20-30 years ago. Last week Georgia looked the part in a dominating 27-6 win over Auburn that felt worse than the final. Georgia had 25-15 first down and 442-216 yard edges including 202-39 on the ground. UGA QB Stetson Bennett was 17 of 28 for 240 yards while WR Kearis Jackson had 147 yards receiving. On the other side, Tennessee has now won 8 straight game dating back to last season. The Vols had 26-15 first down and 422-344 yard edges including 232-126 on the ground in the impressive 35-12 win over Missouri. Tough laying double-digits in what should be a low scoring game. Also note Georgia has Alabama on deck so if they get up early, look for Kirby Smart to take the air out of the ball.

† Texas 35 Oklahoma 34. @Cotton Bowl in Dallas, TX. We are a miracle Texas comeback away from these two battling to avoid the Big 12 basement. The Sooners have now lost back-to-back games in the regular season for the first time since 1999. Both losses have come in the final minutes and Oklahoma coach Lincoln Riley called last week's loss to Iowa St a "very, very gut-wrenching loss." New QB Spencer Rattler has thrown game-ending interceptions in both but the bigger concern is a OU defense that continues to struggle to force TO's or get key stops. The same could be said for Texas who has seen their defense struggle each of the last two weeks. Even though a late fumble at the goal line cost them the win, Texas was fortunate to be so close as TCU had 25-16 first down and 457-388 yard edges including 226-152 on the ground. The major difference here is the experience at QB as Texas has a senior in Sam Ehlinger (14-2 ratio this year) making his 37th start while Rattler (10-4 ratio) is making his 4th. Note that Texas is on a 7-1 ATS run in this series with an average cover of 10.4 ppg. Head coach Tom Herman is also 16-5 ATS as an underdog.

IOWA STATE 36 Texas Tech 26. Iowa State comes in off that historic win over Oklahoma, their first at home over the Sooners since 1960. QB Brock Purdy was 12 of 24 for 254 yards while RB Breece Hall ran for 139 yards and 2 TD's. The win was celebrated by a loud crowd of 13,724 at Jack Trice Stadium. "It was definitely noticeable," Purdy said of the crowd. On the other side, Texas Tech comes in off back-to-back losses. Last week Tech had 27-20 first down and 471-404 yard edges but were -1 in TO's (interception in end zone 4Q) and missed 2 FG's in a loss to Kansas St. More pressing is the health status QB Alan Bowman who left the game after he took a hit to his right leg midway through the first quarter and didn't return. Henry Colombi was 30 of 42 for 244 yards and a 2-1 ratio replacing him. Head coach Matt Wells says Bowman is day-to-day. No matter who starts at QB for TT, we're not wild about laying doubles here with Iowa St.

Alabama 44 OLE MISS 23. Make sure you are checking the weather forecast with Hurricane Delta expected to hit the Southeast on Saturday. This is one of several games that could be impacted. Obviously, you have Nick Sabana vs another former assistant in Lane Kiffin here. Saban is now 20-0 SU vs his former assistants after the Tide's blowout win over Texas A&M and Jimbo Fisher last week. Bama QB Mac Jones threw for 435 yards and 4 TD's and averaged 16.1 yards per pass attempt! We do worry about an Alabama defense that allowed 450 yards last week and also the backdoor vs Missouri in the opener. They're taking on an Ole Miss offense that is averaging 536 ypg and last week got their first win under Kiffin. QB Matt Corral has been a revelation completing 77% with a 7-1 ratio. Alabama has a big game vs Georgia on deck. Will he put away the offense in the second half or try to run it up on Kiffin? We say the former.

AUBURN 31 Arkansas 13. Two teams off disparate results last week. First, the Razorbacks broke a 20-game SEC losing streak in a big upset over Mississippi State. It should be noted that Miss St had 24-17 first down and 400-275 yard edges but had 4 TO's including a 69-yard interception return TD. On the other side, Georgia dominated Auburn with 25-15 first down and 442-216 yard edges including 202-39 on the ground. Auburn QB Bo Nix was just 21 of 40 for 177 yards and a 0-1 ratio. Nix's run of 251 consecutive passes without an interception was snapped. "They won the line of scrimmage," Malzahn said. "We really got whipped in all three phases. We got outcoached." Let's talk line value here. Both teams played Georgia. Arkansas was a 28-point underdog at Georgia in Week 1, now a 14-point underdog here two weeks later. Georgia played Auburn last week. That should mean Georgia at home was laying more than 2 TD's to Auburn? Nope, they laid a TD. Also who is better Auburn or Mississippi State? We think most of you would say Auburn but yet Mississippi St was laying a bigger spread at home last week to Arkansas. Gus Malzahn is on a 4-0 SU/ATS run vs his home-state team. Average win by 39 ppg, average cover by 20 ppg. Also new OC Chad Morris was fired at Arkansas last year!

Missouri at LSU. This game was moved to Missouri on Wednesday due to Hurricane Delta and was moved at the bottom of the rotation. See write-up below.
Florida 31 TEXAS A&M 27. In year three the alums are starting to get restless in College Station with the Aggies off another blowout loss to Alabama last week. Do note that A&M's offense did put up 450 yards and the game was a little closer than the 52-24 final. However, the Aggies' defense allowed 16 yards per pass attempt and now take on a high-powered Florida offense. UF QB Kyle Trask now has a 10-1 ratio on the season and TE Kyle Pitts has 6 receiving TD's for the 2-0 Gators. The Gators defense though needs some work as a week after allowing 613 yards to Ole Miss, they couldn't get off the field vs South Carolina. That game was also closer than the 38-24 final indicated We lean with the dog here as we aren't as high on Florida as the rest of the market.

TCU 31 Kansas State 22. With QB Max Duggan now healthy (231 pass, 79 rush last week), the Horned Frogs look like a much improved team this year. Last week, they did what they almost always do under head coach Gary Patterson...win and cover vs Texas. The Horned Frogs could have won by more as they had 25-16 first down and 457-388 yard edges including 226-152 on the ground. On the other side, Kansas State is 2-0 in Big 12 play but last week Texas Tech had 27-20 first down and 471-404 yard edges. Halfway through the second quarter, QB Skylar Thompson was hit and injured his right arm. However, it looks like he could be back for this one. The Wildcats did block a punt for the third straight game and they are the first team to block a punt in the first three games since Memphis did it in 2008. While we don't have a strong opinion here note Kansas State is on a 41-21-1 ATS run since 2010 as an underdog (7-2 under Klieman) and TCU is just 6-14-1 ATS (-6.6 ppg) as a home favorite.

South Carolina 28 VANDERBILT 13. We think South Carolina is better than their 0-2 record indicates as they hung in tough vs Florida last week with 25-18 first down and 36:23-23:37 TOP edges. South Carolina had a first and goal late in the game looking to cut the lead to 7 but didn't score. That performance was one week after they nearly beat a good Tennessee team. Meanwhile, it could be the "Same Ol Vanderbilt" after the Commodores impressive opener, they were crushed by LSU last week. True frosh QB Ken Seals was 11 of 25 for 113 yards and a 1-2 ratio. Tough laying this kind of number with such a low total. Note that double-digit favorites with a total of 43 or less are just 146-194-12 (43%, -2.8 ppg) since 2006. That prevents us from taking South Carolina more than a lean here.

TROY 32 Texas St 26. Two teams coming in off a bye. The Bobcats are 1-3 SU but look like a much improved team this year as all 3 losses are by a TD or less. The last time we saw them they were nearly pulling a huge outright upset at Boston College (TX St blew a 21-7 lead!). The Bobcats also have a 7-point loss to a good SMU team on their resume. They are taking on a Troy team that got a bye after their game vs South Alabama was postponed due to COVID issues at South Alabama. The Trojans were crushed by BYU in their last game but we think that will be the case for most teams this year. Our power ratings say this line is about right but totals players note that weather could be a factor.

LIBERTY 38 UL-Monroe 20. After a disastrous 0-3 start to the season, give ULM credit for fighting last week. ULM had 24-19 first down and 426-369 yard edges but Georgia Southern got a blocked punt return for a TD and ULM finished the game on the 1-yard line! ULM QB Colby Suits was 31 of 54 for 334 yards. They're taking on a Liberty team that had 22-14 first down and 357-247 yard edges including 250-63 on the ground in a non-cover vs North Alabama. Chris Ferguson got the start for Liberty at QB and was 12 of 21 for only 64 yards as dual-threat Malik Willis sat out. Early indications are he will play here and should have success vs a ULM defense allowing 282 rush ypg. We're passing for now.

BYU 47 Utsa 14. We know they haven't played anyone in our Top 50 yet but the Cougars have been mighty impressive so far this season. BYU is outscoring their opponents by 41 ypg, they are outgaining them by 371 ypg and 4.1 yards per play. They've exceeded the point spread by 28 ppg! BYU QB Zach Wilson is completing 83% of his passes so far this season at 13.2 yards per attempt! BYU has allowed 24 points in its first three games. It is the fewest points allowed by the Cougars in the first three games since 1951, when they gave up just 21 points. Are you tired of hearing about their superlatives yet? You will have to deal with it for at least another week (Houston on deck next Friday) as they take on a banged up UTSA team that did get a cover at UAB last week (benefitted from 4 TO's). QB Josh Adkins was hurt early in the game and it looks like normal starter Frank Harris will be a game-time decision here. We've upgraded BYU more than any other team in our power ratings and yet it still might not be enough.

Florida Atlantic 28 SOUTHERN MISS 26. Another game where you should be tracking the weather forecast. Honestly, We want to play against both teams this season. However, both are coming off much-needed wins last week. Kudos to Southern Miss for not quitting as they beat North Texas by 10 but were out-gained in the game. RB Frank Gore Jr ran for 130 yards. Meanwhile, FAU got its first win under new head coach Willie Taggart. It should be noted that Charlotte had 22-15 first down and 396-315 yard edges but Charlotte missed 2 FG's. FAU QB Nick Tronti was 11 of 22 for 98 yards and 2 TD's and also added 94 rushing yards. Don't see much value here at the current numbers.

Temple 29 NAVY 22. It's been two weeks and we still don't know what the hell happened in the second half of the Navy/Tulane game. Navy outscored Tulane 27-0 in that half. That fooled us into believing they had turned the corner. However, they were crushed by under-manned Air Force team last week costing us on these pages. Excluding that second half vs Tulane, Navy has been outscored 119-10 by their opponents in the other 10 quarters this year! Yes, Temple hasn't played yet this year but they have film on Navy and have been practicing vs the option all fall camp. Even though our power ratings don't call for it, we lean Temple.

FIU 30 Middle Tennessee 27. FIU comes in off a bye after getting a cover vs Liberty two weeks ago (much to our dismay). FIU was out-gained 527-304 and their 100-yard kick return TD on the opening play was big for the point-spread. FIU QB Stone Norton was 9 of 13 for 120 yards and 2 TD's but RB D'vonte Price was the star with 148 yards and 2 TD's. On the other side, Middle Tennessee is 0-4 so far this season but has covered their last two games in a pair of close losses. MT QB Asher O'Hara is playing much better and last week he was 23 of 33 for 217 yards and a TD

while also adding 98 rush yards and a TD. We lean with the dog.

LOUISIANA TECH 31 Utep 17. After entering the season on a 2-34 SU run, the Miners have to be feeling really good about themselves coming off a bye after going 3-1. While you can question their wins over FCS Stephen F. Austin and Abilene Christian, their 31-6 win at ULM was legit as the Miners had a 512-193 yard edge including 210-7 on the ground. They have two decent weapons on offense in Deion Hankins (265 yards, 5.3, 5 TD's) and WR Jacob Cowing (377 yards, 17.1 ypc). On the other side, Louisiana Tech was crushed by BYU last Friday 45-14. They hung in tough for the first 20 minutes but were over-matched. Weather could be an issue here and we lean with the UNDER.

1★ Florida St (plus the points) NOTRE DAME 34 Florida State 17. Notre Dame hasn't played in 3 weeks due to COVID issues and missed more than a week of practice time. They finally started back up conditioning last Wednesday and had an unusual in-season scrimmage on Saturday to test their legs. The layoff could see them return All-American safety Kyle Hamilton who missed the USF game due to injury and also their top WR Kevin Austin who hasn't played yet could get 15-20 snaps. Still, there are reports they will be without nearly 10 players here so proceed with caution. They're taking on a FSU team that rallied from a 21-7 late 2Q deficit vs FCS Jacksonville St last week. Obviously, it's been a tough start for new head coach Mike Norvell but QB Jordan Travis came off the bench and was 12 of 17 for 210 yards and a TD while leading FSU to TD's on five straight drives. He will get the start here. We expect ND to be slow out of the gates and we will take the Noles to cover this really big number.

Charlotte 36 NORTH TEXAS 33. Both teams fared better in the box score than the scoreboard last week. Several North Texas defenders were late scratches last week in the Mean Green's 10-point loss to Southern Miss. North Texas had 27-22 first down and 483-437 yard edges but also had 3 TO's. QB Austin Aune was 28 of 47 for 339 yards and 2 TD's. On the other side, Charlotte had 22-15 first down and 396-315 yard edges but missed 2 FG's in a 4-point loss at FAU. Charlotte QB Chris Reynolds was 24 of 32 for 314 yards. Charlotte has the much better defense but the FG spread here seems right. Slight lean OVER.

Marshall 23 WESTERN KENTUCKY 17. We haven't seen Marshall since September 19th as they upset Appalachian St 17-7. The Thundering Herd have been impressive this year at +238 ypg including a 249-91 rushing ypg edge over their opponents. However, they could be a little slow out of the gates here. They're taking on a WKU that got their first win of the season at Middle Tennessee last week. QB Tyrell Pigrome leads the team in rushing and also has a 6-0 ratio. This number opened Marshall -2 on Sunday and we bet them. However, we can't recommend them at the current number and in fact, we'd lean WKU who is 6-0 ATS in the series with an average cover of 10.9 ppg.

ARMY 34 The Citadel 10. The Citadel is 0-3 so far this season losing by an average of 38-7 to the likes USF, Clemson and Eastern Kentucky. They are -6 in TO's and were better in the box score than the USF and EKU scoreboards. Remember they run the option so both teams will be familiar in defending one another. Army has been impressive in their 3-1 start this season as they are owning the line of scrimmage with a 350-67 rushing ypg edge. With that said, we can't lay a huge number here in a game with limited possessions. Lean dog and the UNDER.

ARKANSAS ST 37 Central Arkansas 24. Central Arkansas is 2-2 this season with two respectable losses to the likes of UAB by only 10 and last week they had the 3-time defending FCS Champs North Dakota St on the ropes in the 4Q (led 28-25) before falling 39-28. They're taking on a Arkansas State team that we easily cashed fading on these pages last week in their blowout loss as a favorite to Coastal Carolina. Arkansas St continues to go with a 2-QB system as Hatcher and Bonner were a combined 28 of 44 for 349 yards and a 3-1 ratio. Check weather here as we lean with the UNDER.

UL-LAFAYETTE 27 Coastal Carolina 21. This game was moved up after ULL's game vs Appalachian St on Wednesday was postponed due to COVID issues at App St. We'll say it again, we identified Coastal as a team to play on this year as they were experienced, upgraded at QB and had all of their spring practices. So far so good at 3-0 with two easy outright winners on these pages including last week's 52-23 destruction of Arkansas State as 3.5-point home underdogs. QB Grayson McCall continues to impress with a 9-1 ratio. They're taking on a 3-0 ULL team that is only +20 ypg this season (for comparison Coastal is +76 ypg) and were fortunate to beat Georgia Southern in their last game two weeks ago. We lean with the dog here but also note weather could be a major issues.

Lsu 33 MISSOURI 20. This game was moved to Missouri on Wednesday due to Hurricane Delta. See writeup at end. Last week LSU got back on track with a blowout win over Vanderbilt. LSU had 28-17 first down and 498-266 yard edges and QB Myles Brennan was 23 of 37 for 337 yards and 4 TD's. The Tigers got CB Derek Stingley Jr. back, and he showed why LSU missed him in the opener when he was in a hospital (two long punt returns). On the other side, Missouri is 0-2 but we're not as down on them as the rest of the market. QB Connor Bazelak was 13 of 21 for 218 yards (0-1 ratio) in the loss last week and will get the start here. We lean with the dog and UNDER.

Week 6 Computer Projected Lines for Every CFB Game

For the past three seasons we have posted computer projected lines for every game. Games where there was of difference of more than 3 points saw our computer lines actually beat the Vegas line at a 302-252-12 (55%) clip. Last week's plays went 5-1 and now the record for this year is 17-8. Keep in mind, these computer lines don't take into consideration off-the-field factors like revenge or flat spots. They are basically a power-rating number difference between the two teams that also takes into consideration the home field advantage.

Of the 7 games where our computer is off more than 3 points compared to the Vegas line (highlighted), our favorite team this week to back would be Kentucky -2.

The Comp column is the computer projected line and the Diff column is the difference between the Vegas line and the Computer line. "+" numbers in the difference column say back the underdog. "-" numbers in the difference column say back the favorite. Let us know if you have questions.

CFB ATS Trends for Week 6

1. Clemson is on a 20-0 SU run vs ACC opponents outscoring them by 35.4 ppg. The Tigers are also 17-3 ATS in those 20 games covering by 8.9 ppg. This week Clemson is a 14-point favorite vs Miami. Their shortest ACC spread since they were 11-point favorites vs Miami in the 2017 ACC Championship game.

2. Texas is on a 7-1 ATS run in Red River Rivalry (or whatever they're calling it these days) series with an average cover of 10.4 ppg. This week Texas is a 2-point underdog vs Oklahoma.

3. Kansas State is on a 41-21-1 ATS run since 2010 as an underdog (7-2 under head coach Klieman).

4. TCU is on a 6-14-1 ATS (-6.6 ppg) run as a home favorite. This week TCU is a 9-point home favorite vs K-State.

5. WKU wis 6-0 ATS in the series vs Marshall with an average cover of 10.9 ppg. This week WKU is a 7-point home underdog to the Thundering Herd.

6. North Texas is just 3-16-2 ATS in their last 21 games falling short of expectation by an average of 9 ppg. This week the Mean Green are 3-point underdogs at home vs Charlotte.

7. With Hurricane Delta possibly impacting several CFB games this Saturday, note that according to Bet Labs, games with at least 13 mph wind are 529-398-34 (57%) to the UNDER since 2005. That is against the closing line so there is outstanding value betting those weather games earlier in the week at better numbers.

8. Vanderbilt is on a 1-9 ATS run as a home dog. This week the Commodores are 13-point home dogs to South Carolina.

9. Georgia Tech is on a 1-10 ATS run as a home dog. This week the Yellow Jackets are 4-point home dogs to Louisville.

10. If you have blindly bet on the underdog in every college football game this season, congrats you are 66-43-2 ATS (60.6%) so far.

11. Since 1980 Florida St has only been a dog of 15 or more eight times! Unfortunately, they are 0-8 SU and 0-7-1 ATS! This week the Noles are 21-point underdogs at Notre Dame.

12. Florida is on a 8-1 ATS run on the road. This week the Gators are 6.5-point road favorites at Texas A&M.

THE POWERS' PACK
2★ UNDER 47 Indianapolis/CLEVELAND
1★ Carolina (+2) over ATLANTA
1★ Cincinnati (+13) over BALTIMORE

Games in Rotation Order   HOME TEAM IN CAPS
Thursday, October 8th

Tampa Bay 23 CHICAGO 20. After their huge come-from-behind win over the Chargers on Sunday (TB trailed by 24-7 2Q), the Bucs are now 3-1 and in the lead in the NFC South. Tom Brady did have 369 passing yards and 5 TD's vs L.A. as Tampa had lost the previous 42 times they had trailed by 17 in a game. However they are not in a great spot here traveling on a short week. They're taking on a Bears team that was shut down at home vs Indianapolis last week as we easily cashed UNDER on these pages. Nick Foles didn't prove to be the savior Bears' fans want him to be and Chicago still hasn't scored a 3Q TD this year. Still, this line looks too big for us not to lean with the home dog.

Sunday, October 11th

1★ Carolina 26 ATLANTA 25. Two teams and two franchises that look like they are heading in opposite directions. First, the Panthers come in off back-to-back outright upset wins under first-year coach Matt Rhule. Last week was impressive vs a solid Arizona team as the Panthers had a 444-262 yard edge. On the other side, the Falcons are now 0-4 for the first time since 1999 and despite the market betting on them vs Green Bay (line dropped from +7 to +5), they were easily handled. You have to think Dan Quinn can't survive too many more losses especially if they lose outright as a favorite here.

KANSAS CITY 33 Las Vegas 20. Tough betting against the Chiefs these days as they have now won 13 straight games dating back to last season going 12-1 ATS in the process. However, we stand by our Patriots pick vs them last week...Had Cam Newton not tested positive, we think New England was a live dog as the Chiefs were out-gained but were +3 in TO's against the Pats backup QB. Most bets were voided because of the date change but we still count it as a loss on these pages. On the other side, the Raiders come in off back-to-back losses but they do have a much-needed bye on deck. They are dealing with multiple injuries at WR and OL. It's highly unlikely they can go score for score here as the Chiefs have dominated them as of late winning the last 3 by a combined 103-22. However, not this spot isn't ideal as they're on a short week because of the postponed NE game and have a huge game at Buffalo on Thursday. We lean UNDER.

NEW ENGLAND 27 Denver 17. We think there is going to be some value on this New England team. They came up one yard short at Seattle and then last week QB Cam Newton tested positive on Saturday and they proceeded to lose to KC 26-10 despite having the yardage edge with a pair of backup QB's. Four TO's including a "Pick-6" did them in on Monday. They have short rest taking on a Denver team that has extra rest after notching their first win of the season on Thursday night at the Jets. QB Brett Rypien got the start and threw for 242 yards (2-3 ratio). No line as of presstime with Cam Newton's status uncertain and now just breaking Wednesday morning All-Pro CB Stephon Gilmore has tested positive for NE. That might even put this game in jeopardy. That's 2020 for ya!

L.A. Rams 26 WASHINGTON 19. Sean McVay returns to Washington where he cut his teeth as a young O.C. The Rams are making their 3rd East coast trip in 4 weeks but they do boast a solid 9-2 SU/ATS mark in the EST/London time zones under McVay. Last week the Rams couldn't cover the huge spread vs the Giants as their offense bogged down after an early score (only 240 total yards). Some money has showed up on the Football Team here despite their 3-game losing streak coming into this one. Last week they got a "meaningful" TD with 2 minutes left in a 31-17 loss to Baltimore. Anything north of 7-points is a lean on Washington as it looks like they will go with Kyle Allen at QB.

HOUSTON 31 Jacksonville 23. Raise your hand if you had Bill O'Brien being the first coach fired this year? Not Adam Gase. Not Dan Quinn. The guy who won a playoff game last year. We actually think it will be a short-term positive for them as there were rumors of some turmoil among O'Brien and the offense and don't even get us started on Bill O'Brien, the GM. It also helps that the Texans are taking a huge step down in class here after playing KC, BAL, PIT and a Vikings team coached by one of the best in Mike Zimmer. Meanwhile, Jacksonville comes in off 3 straight losses and now we think the race to get Trevor Lawrence is on. Houston gets their first win and cover of the season.

Buffalo 28 TENNESSEE 24. No line on this game as of presstime. Also breaking on Wednesday morning is that a couple more Titans players have tested positive for COVID. Tennessee was scheduled to return to their facility today but now that won't happen. That seriously puts this game with a pair of unbeaten teams in jeopardy. Buffalo is off to their first 4-0 start in 12 years and we think the Titans are overrated because of 3 close wins. We would take Buffalo here in a small favorite role (-3 or less). Also concerning is what the remnants of Hurricane Delta could impact the game if it is played.

Arizona 28 N.Y. JETS 20. This is the largest favorite role on the road for Arizona since 2017. They come in after suffering a pair of upset losses to Detroit and Carolina the last two weeks. Unlike the Detroit game that was the result of TO's, last week Arizona was just flat out-played by the Panthers as they were outgained 444-262. They're taking on a 0-4 SU/ATS Jets team that is failing to meet expectation by 10 ppg this year. Their latest debacle came at home last Thursday to the winless Broncos. The Jets were +3 in TO's and still lost to a QB making his first start on a short week. Breaking news right before we went to press is that Joe Flacco will get the start here for the Jets.

PITTSBURGH 26 Philadelphia 17. The Eagles won't get the benefit of playing Nick Mullens this week as Philadelphia took advantage of some key TO's in their outright upset over San Francisco on SNF. Philly was outgained 417-267 but held on in the end. We think the Steelers are better than the 49ers this year, especially when compared to the current banged up San Francisco team and yet they are laying a similar number here vs the Eagles even though they come in off a bye. The Steelers defense should feast on a banged up Eagles' offensive line.

1★ Cincinnati (plus the points) BALTIMORE 31 Cincinnati 21. Don't mind getting double-digits here with a Cincy team that is starting to believe in their rookie QB. Joe Burrow is the first rookie QB to have 3 straight 300-yard passing performances. The Bengals are a bad missed FG away in the opener from being 4-0 ATS and last week got their first straight up win of the season. Meanwhile, Baltimore got a nice bounce-back win after the loss to the Chiefs on MNF. Baltimore is now 22-1 SU under Lamar Jackson when they aren't facing the Chiefs. Yes, the Ravens are arguably the 2nd best team in the NFL but this point-spread is too much to lay vs a division rival that has plenty of backdoor potential.

SAN FRANCISCO 27 Miami 20. Yes, we lost on these pages last week with Miami. If we had to do it over again, we would still take them as the Dolphins settled for 5 FG's in the 8-point loss to Seattle. All the money came in on them and they even closed a 4.5-point underdog (we gave them out at +6.5). They're taking on a San Francisco team that needs a bounce back win after an upset loss to the Eagles on SNF. Three TO's did them in as QB Mullens did not have a good game. It is notable that TE Kittle returned and had 183 yards. Jimmy G could return for this one. No matter who starts at QB, SF can ill afford to lose this game as they have the Rams, Patriots, Seahawks, Packers, Saints, Rams and Bills all on deck. Considering their injuries, it is entirely realistic they might not even make the playoffs this year with that "Murderer's Row". Not many shops have a line up on this one. We'll call for the 49ers by a TD and see where we stand.

DALLAS 31 N.Y Giants 23. Not sure how you can lay more than a TD here with a Cowboys defense that is allowing 37 ppg this season and just got ran over for franchise-worst 307 rushing yards last week vs Cleveland. We know Dallas is in the Heart of Big 12 country but their games are averaging a ridiculous 69 ppg. QB Dak Prescott is the first player to throw for more than 450 yards in 3 straight games but this is their first 1-3 start in a decade and they're a miracle onside kick recovery away from 0-4. They're taking on a Giants team that is really struggling on offense averaging 12 ppg and 278 ypg and are looking for their first win of the season. Dallas is on a 6-0 SU/ATS run in the series with a 14 ppg margin of victory. Will be interesting to see if the Giants are extra motivated with new OC Jason Garrett who was fired from the Cowboys last year.

2★ UNDER 47 Indianapolis 22 CLEVELAND 21. In a year where NFL scoring is way up, the Colts defense is legit allowing just 14 ppg and 236 ypg so far this season. Last week we cashed an UNDER on these pages as they shut down the Bears in a 19-11 win. However, QB Philip Rivers arm strength is a major issue. They're taking on a high-powered Browns offense that has scored at least 34 points in 3 straight games. However, that was against three bad defenses in Cincinnati, Washington and Dallas. The last time they were tested they only managed 6 points vs Baltimore in the opener and now RB Nick Chubb is out. Light rain and some wind are in the current forecast. UNDER again in a Colts game.

SEATTLE 32 Minnesota 26. Even though we have lost fading the Seahawks twice on these pages this year (albeit by a combined 2.5 points), we still stand by our conviction that they are overrated as they are -61 ypg. Last week they benefitted from Miami settling for 5 FG's and picked off Fitzpatrick twice in their 8-point win. QB Wilson had another big performance (16-2 ratio this year) and Seattle is off to their first 4-0 start since 2013, their Super Bowl winning season. They're taking on a Minnesota team that finally got their first win of the season last week. The Vikings have scored at least 30 points in 3 of their 4 games this year and can go score for score here.

Monday, October 12th

NEW ORLEANS 29 L.A. Chargers 23. The Chargers come in after blowing a 24-7 lead at Tampa Bay last week. While they have lost 3 games in a row with Justin Herbert at QB, he has been impressive. Last week he was 20 of 25 for 290 yards and 3 TD's. Meanwhile, New Orleans rallied from a 14-0 deficit to Detroit to win and cover as they scored 35 unanswered at one point. They stopped a two-game losing streak and got them back in the race with Tampa in the NFC South. We like this one to come within the number here. Make sure to check out the Saints injury report as they were missing 6 starters last week. On the other side, the Chargers are banged up on the offensive line.
