

Good morning! Welcome to PA....winter is NOT giving up.

Today's tip.....if you have never been a part of a game like this, I hope at some point before you give up officiating that you have the pleasure to be involved in a show of sportsmanship like what happened in Corry, PA last evening. THIS is what sports and high school athletics is all about.....just take a look here and enjoy!

Just a side note.....one of the first players who came out to congratulate this young man was a player on the visiting team with special needs who had a similar experience just last week! THAT is sportsmanship!

Have a GREAT day and hopefully this clip keeps everything we do in our lives in perspective.....when we are not happy with the games we are getting, beating ourselves up over a call/game or having to work 'that' game.....remember WHY we should be doing it and that the game you are working is the most important game on the face of the earth to someone.
