

To love art... willing change of matter & energy from one state to another.

To stay true... focusing on the contribution to nurture growth.

To laugh aloud... with others, for growth is painful & laughter is how we share pain.

~Shane Acuff