Haman's Clay Tablet Proclamation Found by Archeology Team!

Dear Friends:

I hope you are as excited as I am by the recent discovery in Eastern Iraq. A team of archeologists has found concrete evidence of the historicity of the Book of Esther— just in time for our celebration of Purim. As you recall, the Megillah of Esther makes reference to a decree sent out by Haman. But it gives no indication of the contents of that decree. Just this month, a team led by professor I.M. Diggin of the Institute for the Discovery of Information and Objects of Textual Significance announced that they had found one of the actual clay tablets that the Prime Minister dispatched to all the corners of the Kingdom. For the first time we can read for ourselves exactly what it was that Haman said. What follows is the long-lost proclamation by Haman concerning the Jews of Shushan:

To my fellow citizens of Shushan:

I, Haman, the son of Hamidatha the Agagite, issue a decree concerning some of the residents of Shushan, specifically the people of Mordechai, one of the exiles from Judah. Let it be known to all who pay attention to this proclamation that Mordechai is low energy. He claims to speak for the Jews. But let it also be known to all who hear this proclamation that the Jews are losers. Losers. There are now so many of them in our country. But these are people that have lots of problems, and they're bringing those problems to us. They're bringing drugs. They're bringing crime. They're rapists. And some, I assume, are good people! And let it be known that, by the way, the Jews love me. Be it hereby established that in order to protect ourselves from these losers and their problems, I Haman, the son of Hamidatha the Agagite, Prime Minister of our beloved king, do proclaim that a wall be built keeping these loser Jews in their place. And I further proclaim that the loser Jews will pay for that wall. Further let it be known that qwzfx mfpjr.....

Tragically this latter part of the tablet becomes illegible and the rest has been lost and so the remainder of the message is not known. But at least we know a part of Haman's message. More importantly we have tangible proof that the Megillah of Esther is historically true and that Haman actually did exist. Fortunately nobody like him has ever played a role in human events again.

I share this with you in the hope that you are planning to join us for our Purim celebration at Shabbat services on March 25: Shpiel, songs, piles of Hamantaschen lovingly prepared by our crack Shir Chadash baking and baton-twirling team, and of course costumes. Come wearing your outlandish and ridiculous attire—or come in costume. If you don't come, you will be elsewhere.

In any event, I wish you a joyous and excessive Purim.

Rabbi Daniel Polish

Notes from Cantor Gail Hirschenfang

Becoming a Bat (Bar) Mitzvah at Shir Chadash

As we get ready to celebrate the upcoming Bat Mitzvah of Hannah Wogalter on Shabbat Morning, March 5th (Ashley Kaswer on May 21st, Jayci Longin on Oct 1st and Julia Rubinstein on Nov 5th), I thought it would be useful for all of our members to understand and fully appreciate what this wonderful rite of passage means for the students and their families, as well as for the extended family of Shir Chadash.

"And You Shall Teach Them Diligently" is embedded in the paragraph immediately following the daily recitation of the first two lines of the SHEMA. It is inherent in our religious tradition that the study and values of our Torah are to be passed along to our children. The process of becoming a Bat or Bar Mitzvah is the demonstration of that knowledge and fluency. It is not just about reaching a certain age, it is about reaching that special milestone where the 'child' now becomes the 'teacher of Torah'. This can only be accomplished through 'diligent' study and real commitment. It is truly an honor for me to usher our students and their families through this arduous but deeply satisfying process.

Our Shir Chadash students come up through our Sharing Shabbat program. Many of them have been coming to Sharing Shabbat since they were toddlers. They know their teachers well and understand that those teachers are also members of our congregation. The students study the various holidays (with the appropriate lessons for the appropriate grade level), learn basic Bible stories and lessons, study the Jewish life cycle, history and current events that effect the Jewish people. When these students stay for services with their families or class, they are exposed to our service and become familiar not only with our liturgy and songs, but with the Rabbi and myself. I am always amused when a student attends a Shabbat service elsewhere and comes back with an ample critique on that synagogue. This indicates to me that the student feels connected to Shir Chadash and identifies it as his/her "home congregation".

In the 6-9 months that proceed the Bar/Bat Mitzvah I meet with the parents and the child together. We discuss which Parasha (portion from the Torah) has been designated for their date and the first thing we do is investigate its meaning. The student is then sent home to determine which section of that Parasha s/he wants to read and teach us at their service. During this period of study, the student is taught the Hebrew prayers that will be used in the Shabbat service and understands that they will be leading the worship service. They are then taught the cantillation for the Torah and, whenever possible, go on to chant their chosen verses. Perhaps the most interesting of these endeavors is the writing of their D'var Torah, their treatise on the Parasha. What does the Torah, this ancient book of law, have to teach us for today's world? What lessons can a 13 year old derive from this? What can s/he possibly say to their family, friends and fellow congregants? I am always delighted to hear their ideas and insights.

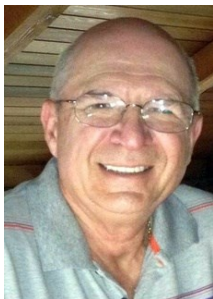

And, lastly, there is a Mitzvah component of the Bat/Bar Mitzvah process. Each student is asked to take on a special project to assist the community in some way. They are asked to do somewhere between 6-10 hours but most students exceed that. In Hannah's case, she committed herself to cooking and serving at the Lunch Box, a local soup kitchen, and at Hillcrest House, the local homeless shelter. I believe it was a new experience for her to witness people so hungry they required a meal provided by others.

Since the inception of Shir Chadash, I believe that one of our most successful programs has been the designing of the Sharing Shabbat program. What can be more of an example for a child than to see his/her own parent(s) in Torah study while they are being asked to learn in their own class room. This kind of modeling is a profound lesson for our children. It not only makes the statement that the learning of Torah is a lifelong endeavor, but that the study of Torah is a joy and a privilege that one pursues at Bat/Bar Mitzvah and well beyond.

L'Shalom, Cantor Gail Hirschenfang

A Message from President Victor Feit

Welcome to the family

I would like to thank all those people who helped make the February 20th Sharing Shabbat service a huge success. I spoke to the members of Vassar Temple who were our guests that morning for Torah Study with Rabbi Polish and Rabbi Leah Berkowitz and for our service featuring our wonderful Junior Choir. They had the highest praise for the Torah study, the Bagel Break, the service with Divrei Torah by both Rabbis and the wonderful Junior Choir with keyboard and drums. For me, this represented the epitome of what Shir Chadash is about. Our Shir Chadash family came out and provided the hospitality, congeniality and quality of service that we have come to expect from our congregation. I wish to thank all who helped and all who attended.

Now for business. We have two major events planned for the remainder of the year.

April 9 is the date of the Annual Shir Chadash Auction. Please let me know about quality items you would like to donate so they can be placed on our web page to encourage interest in the event and entice people to attend. This will allow our members to view the items before the auction and offers the people donating the items the opportunity to receive acknowledgement. For those of you who have never attended our auction, you are missing out—just ask anyone who has attended in the past. This is a fun-filled evening complete with good deals, a lot of spirit and many, many funny asides. Your hosts for the evening will be the amazing duo of Victor Feit and Jeff Lash.

On May 15, we will be holding our Annual Concert. The Klezmatics will be performing at Poughkeepsie Day School. I need people to help organize, publicize and work to make this a successful endeavor. Please take ad forms to businesses to help support Shir Chadash and please plan on attending. The Klezmatics were here a few years ago and played to a standing ovation!

Purim is coming to Shir Chadash on Friday evening, March 25! We need people to help Susan Marcoe with our Purim Spiel written by the world-renowned playwright—Rabbi Daniel Polish. Please contact Susan about working in this over-the-top show.

Shalom,
Vic Feit

As most of you know already I will be working with the Religious School to provide support and resources for the teachers, and some family programming. I am very excited about this assignment because it allows me to quickly become involved, and to use my educational background to provide a service for Shir Chadash. I look forward to working with teachers, students, and parents on a regular basis.

I hope that you are all aware of some the great lessons being taught by our Shir Chadash Religious School teachers. The youngest students, under the tutelage of Rochelle Bellach, are studying the Jewish holidays and Bible stories. Our 4th and 5th graders, working with Steve Moskowitz, are focusing on Jewish symbols, how they relate to the holidays, where they appear in our Torah, and how they enrich our feelings of Judaism. Our B'nai Mitzvah students are studying Jewish values with Ed Ginsberg. These students discuss the traits of Jewish heroes and how those traits and values can be applied to their own lives.

In addition, because these students are approaching Bar/Bat Mitzvah age, we want them to feel comfortable at services. Therefore it is important that students attend our Sharing Shabbat. To that end I would like to announce that those students with good attendance from March 5th through the end of the school year will receive certificates and prizes!

Finally, to all parents, please if we haven't met yet, come over and introduce yourself to me. Also, if at any time you have any questions please do call or e-mail.

Congregation Shir Chadash

Tzedakah for Passover

*"Let all who are hungry come and eat.
Let all who are in want share the hope of Passover."*

This year, Shir Chadash is collecting food to donate to the S.F.B. Morse Elementary School (Mansion St. Poughkeepsie) Food Pantry. Food is distributed to the students and their families who experience food insecurity over weekends and school vacations. Help us feed the hungry in our local community by nourishing these students so they may optimize their learning potential.

This is a wonderful endeavor for everyone—do you have chametz that is boxed or canned and in date? Perfect to donate! Making a quick trip to your favorite supermarket? Pick up some pasta, soup, peanut butter, macaroni and cheese, etc. to donate! All donations must be canned or boxed so they can be stored without refrigeration at the school.

Please, bring your donations to any Shir Chadash service, study or event and make this Passover Tzedakah project a success!

This is a Living Tzedakah project of the Shir Chadash Social Action Committee. For more information or to donate contact: Sandy Lash at 227-4650 or sjlash@optonline.net ; or Robbie Schiff at 876-2626 or veggierob@yahoo.com

- ✧ Donations of money may also be made and will be used to purchase food that will be added to the Shir Chadash donation.
- ✧ Your donations can be picked up—just let us know.

“The Family: A Journey into the Heart of the Twentieth Century”

by David Laskin

An Amazon Best Book of the Month, October 2013: Every writer, established or aspiring, has at one time or another looked around and decided, “My life would make a great book.” Some of them are sadly mistaken. But journalist David Laskin’s life—or rather that of his forbears, three generations of a Russian Jewish family originally named HaKoen—has made a fantastic book. Despite its name, The Family is not about the Mafia, or the Mansons, but really about one particular, ordinary/extraordinary twentieth century shtetl clan. But you don’t have to be Jewish to be fascinated by the six children of a Torah scribe on the western fringe of the Russian empire; they, like people everywhere, were buffeted by political and social and economic upheavals of their times. One branch of the family ended up in America as the prosperous founders of Maidenform lingerie; another repatriated to Israel; the third suffered the Holocaust. While I tended to favor the stories about the American branch (how can you not love a 4’ 11” Russian revolutionary, who, with her husband Wolf, invented the brassiere in 1924 and got filthy rich in ladies underwear in the depression?), the other HaKoen-turned-Cohens provided plenty of educational entertainment as well. You think you know about the Russian revolution? Try seeing it through Laskin’s ancestors’ eyes. Likewise, WWII and Zionism. This is a great, big-hearted book about how time and place modifies family, whatever or wherever its roots. --Sara Nelson

We are writing to thank you for the generous contribution made by members of your congregation to the Coming Home program on January 12 and 26, 2016. As you know, the Coming Home program benefits individuals coming from jail or prison and helps them to reintegrate into the community. Preparing and sharing a meal with the participants is a wonderful way to make them feel welcome. Roberta Schiff prepared, and Sarah Willis, John Wallach, Kathy and Tom Walker served, a wonderful meal on January 12, and Sara Rothman and Jerry Scheck served up a beautiful dinner on January 26, and we appreciate the time, effort and love they put into it. Please convey our warmest thanks to them, and if I have left anyone out I apologize – please thank them as well.

Working with Shir Chadash in this endeavor has been a most positive experience, and we look forward to more collaborations in the future. Thank you again.

Sincerely,

Congregation Shir Chadash and Freedom Plains United Presbyterian Church are considering a second interfaith journey to Israel in 2016.

Two years ago a group from both congregations experienced a moving and exciting trip together. Many people have asked that we do it again. It was a deeply moving experience, showing Jews parts of Israel that they never would have seen; and showing our Christian friends the Israel that is so dear to us. It was a deeply moving experience. Many of the travelers called it life changing.

Now some of the "pilgrims" who traveled two years ago want to travel to Israel a second time. And some members of both congregations who did not come with us wish they had come the first time. In response to these requests we are exploring a second joint trip. Non-members who are interested in the trip are welcome too. The itinerary will be tailored to the needs of the group that is traveling.
