Did the activity implement at least one of the PTA Purposes?

Gifted Child Committee has been constantly engaging parents, staff, and students in the Choice Study response plan implementation phase throughout 2016-2017 for the benefit of students and school communities.

Did the activity meet the needs of the parents, students or community?

In 2016-2017, Gifted Child Committee has been bridging the gaps among community groups and MCPS central office in the conversation and the implementation of the Choice Study and its response plan, respectively. The success of the plan implementation will meet the core needs of the parents, students, and community.

Was it interesting and/or helpful to the members? How?

GCC hosted events had great participation numbers. In this year's the fall parent information night, almost all participants have stayed with us for the whole 2 hours. In this year, GCC participated cluster events and gave two talks related to the Choice Study. Local PTA leaders and school administrators had great responses on the talks. We made great friends along the way.

Did it involve the greatest possible number of members?

GCC has consistently posted information across MCCPTA and other listservs. In addition, this year, we started to channel information through local PTA GT Liaisons. We believe that our messages have been spread widely and brought attention to the issues from the greatest possible number of members.

Suggestions for next year; Ways to improve; What worked; what didn't work? Suggested dates for program/event.

In the coming year, we will continue to engage with community through various channel. In addition, we will educate and nurture PTA leaders on gifted education issues.
