

“My goal is to inspire each person to explore & celebrate his or her God-given creativity.

When people walk into our studio, my greatest satisfaction comes from helping them truly enjoy the artistic process while discovering their own talent. I just love witnessing their amazement at what they are able to accomplish after walking in full of doubts about their artistic ability.

Our events differ from the typical “copy me” painting sessions because I want my clients to be inspired yet feel the complete satisfaction of creating their own unique pieces.

I love hearing them talk about how they feel so relaxed painting here and that they definitely want to come back. I’m blessed to meet so many new friends of all ages from our community as we paint together and cherish the conversations we share!”
