The 6th (also called 3d) Regiment Texas Infantry was formed of ten companies, A to K, which were mustered into the Confederate States service from September 27, 1861, to April 11, 1862. Most of the regiment surrendered at Arkansas Post, January 11, 1863, and was exchanged east of the Mississippi River where it was consolidated with similar remnants of the 10th Regiment Texas Infantry and the 15th Regiment Texas Cavalry about May, 1863. This consolidation was broken up and the 6th Regiment Texas Infantry formed into a battalion of six companies which was united with a battalion of four companies formed of the 15th Regiment Texas Cavalry about March 5, 1864. Each company was mustered separately and under its original designation during the period covered by these consolidations. About April, 1865, this remnant of the regiment became Company A of the regiment which was formed by the consolidation of Granbury's Texas Brigade and was paroled at Greensboro, N. C., about May 1, 1865.
That part of the regiment which was not captured at Arkansas Post, and some of the supernumerary officers, are found to have subsequently served in the 17th Consolidated Regiment Texas Mounted Cavalry and other organizations in the Trans-Mississippi Department.
