

Commission Pricing

I welcome inquiries to discuss a project you have in mind!

•All commissions have a typical base $20 supply & conference fee (additional costs are possible based on additional supplies, multiple meetings, changes-changes-changes etc., but will be agreed upon before starting). *note: framing is not included but can be done for additional cost.

My pricing structure starts with square inches with consideration of time involved because as you know... if I spent a lot of time on a little piece that wouldn't be fair. On the same token, if I spend very little time I will reduce the final cost. Since I record data on all my work I will have apt comparison with mediums, detail level and size to help you get the best idea for your quote.

Making it Fair...

“Mending Day” - watercolor: is 13”x19”, resulting in 247sq inches (remember watercolor starts @$1 a sq.inch), but 16.5 hours of work were put in, making the “per sq. inch” unreasonable.

My time is worth $27 an hour. Let's face it...plumbers make more than me. I am an artisan, not an etsy 'crafter'. A graduate with a BFA from the Columbus College of Art and Design; which has a very rigorous program. I hope you see that in my work! 😊

•Watercolor starts $1 a square inch

*note: sizes up to 30”x22” - beyond that size will be diptych, triptych etc....

•Oil painting, Mixed media, encaustics starting at $1.25 -1.50 a square inch

Panel is preferred for oil but canvas can be done for an additional cost. Mixed media and encaustics must be created on a rigid surface for the integrity of the work.

*potential additional costs for supplies depending on medium (like encaustics), base structure etc.

*Commissions with a personal nature; ex.: portraits, or deemed not easily resell-able must have a 30% downpayment so the artist isn't left in a bad place if the customer changes their mind and abandons ship.

I am Very Concerned for YOUR Vision

Your satisfaction is coveted and is helped by good communication on everything from color palate, styles, likes/dislikes; and so signing off after a conference should have a positive vision. Art is a commitment, like a tattoo... you're going to live with it, so work with me so you will LOVE it!
