

(Pagosa Springs October 23, 1898) Captain Lloyd Beall died very suddenly at this place on Sunday near the noon hour. Mr. Beall was a delegate to the Democratic county convention from Chromo precinct, and participated in the proceedings. At the time of his death he was in Schand's place and had been sitting in a chair for a long time. He arose to go out and taking his hat from a nail in the wall complained of not feeling well. He was assisted out of doors and when he returned still assisted by J. M. Keith he suddenly dropped and was caught by Wm. Dyke, but his spirit had flown. Word was sent to Sam Teeson of Chromo, with whom the Captain made his home a part of the time, and also to his brother at St. Louis. In the meantime Undertaker Gross took charge of the remains. Mr. Teeson arrived Monday Morning and in the afternoon a telegram was received from his brother. The later gave instruction to have the remains buried here, and on Tuesday they were laid to rest in the Pagosa Spring cemetery. Deceased had attained the age of 78 years, and was born in the South. He began to serve in the United States army at a tender age and served through the Mexican war. When the civil war broke out he sided with the Confederacy and served through the war, fighting valiantly. Captain Beal had been a resident of this county for a number of years, making his home in Coyote Park and Chromo.
