Subject: FYI-Notice on Fort McClellan chemical issues 1970-1999

VA Notice sent to me this date:

Another new notice was sent out about the Chemical issues relating to Fort McClellan 1970-1999. If you were stationed, attended training in several areas, and just TDY there you are eligible for compensation due new studies. This post was used over the years for several items from Chemical Warfare Training, Air Assault initial training then moved elsewhere, and National Guard and US Army Reserve training. This base was used heavily during the Vietnam War and Cold War on Chemical Warfare School. At the time every unit was required to have qualified Chemical officers and NCO's.

As in the Agent Orange cases, if you were denied coverage, it is important to reapply ASAP.

This is all I have at this time.
