

EVENT – PRESS RELEASE

Deadline: For immediate release.

Contact: Katherine Hery @ KSH PR Group

Phone: (424) 288-6182

Email: katherineshine@gmail.com

The Sea Glass Center Educates The Leaders of Tomorrow

On Sunday April 7th at The Deep Blue in Kennebunk ME, Girl Scout Troop 1804 will set out on the challenge to earn their next badge. The non-profit, The Sea Glass Center, will instruct the cadets on proper collecting techniques for sea glass, beach glass, and other ocean treasures. Their badge earned will be for ‘collecting’.

Danielle Perreault, a seasoned sea glass collector and the head of the nonprofit, can’t wait for this event, “I am so excited to host Girl Scout Troop 1804 from Kennebunk and help these young ladies earn their collecting badge”.

Danielle and The Sea Glass Center hope to ignite the passion for collecting within the troop, “I hope I can inspire them to be lifelong collectors of sea glass”. One of the many goals of The Girl Scouts is to build character. The Cadets will learn about the patience it takes to search for sea glass and beach glass.

“Beach combing is a pastime they can enjoy all their lives”, Danielle explains. On Sunday April 7th at 3pm the Cadets will embark on an educational adventure, exploring the world of sea glass and learning about all types of sea treasures.

The Deep Blue

8 Western Ave #2, Kennebunk, ME 04043

The Sea Glass Center on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram.