

IB VISUAL ARTS | PRINT WORKSHOP

On the 12th December, Year 12 & 13 IB Visual Arts students took part in a 'Mark Making' workshop with visiting local artist, Mary Crenshaw. During the day, the students were introduced to alternative 'mark making' techniques such as simple monotype and collograph printing. The students were able to experiment freely with a range of familiar, and not so familiar, materials in order to explore alternative methods of creating imagery and developing ideas. The workshop was very liberating for all students who discovered the value of a more gestural style of working and the important role that 'chance' can play in producing pieces of artwork.
